Three Die, 26 Hurt In P.Q. Rail Crash

LACHUTE, Que. (CP) — Morgue officials in nearby Brownsburg said three persons were killed today when a truck hit a CP Rail dayliner at a level crossing near Calumet, Que., on the main Ottawa-Montreal line.

Earlier, Horace Lamarche, administrator of Hospital Argenteuil here, said four persons were killed in the collision which sent 26 persons to hospital for treatment of injuries.

Killed in the accident were Bernice Doherty, 49, of Great Falls, Mont., a passenger in the train, and 24-year-old Reginald Sinjais of Gatineau, Que., a passenger in the truck.

The morgue did not identify the third victim, also a passenger in the train, but police said the body was that of a young person.

Twenty persons were being treated at Hospital Argenteuil and six others at hospitals in Hawkesbury, on the Ontario side of the Ottawa River. None of the injured was seriously hurt.

The driver of the truck, 23-year-old Michel Emely of Gatineau, received only superficial injuries in the crash. "The lights and bells at the crossing weren't working," a dazed Mr. Emely told reporters. "I was going about 50 miles an hour around a corner and braked and went off the road trying to miss the train."

"I ducked below the wheel just before we hit. I thought it was all over."

Mr. Emely, carrying a load of fruit on a trip he makes three times a week from Montreal to Gatineau, said a steel platform on the roof of the truck's cab sliced through the train window.

The truck then burst into flames which were put out by an attendant from a nearby service station with a fire extinguisher. The truck was mangled virtually beyond recognition in the crash.

"Apparently there was red all over the place," Mr. Lamarche said after speaking to an observer from the crash scene. "Not only from the blood but also from tomatoes in the truck. It was real awful."

Six ambulances, three from Lachute and three from Hawkesbury, rushed to the scene to aid the injured.

Canadian transport commission officials in Ottawa said there were about 50 persons on the Ottawa-Montreal dayliner when it left Ottawa at 7:15 a.m.

In Montreal, a CP Rail spokesman said the train was scheduled to make several stops and was not an express. Including flag stops, there are up to 22 stops on the 132-mile route.

He could not say how fast it would have been travelling in the Calumet region, about midway between Ottawa and Montreal.

JAPAN MAY BUY CANADIAN APPLES

B.C. Tree Fruits' Reaction 'One Of Controlled Optimism'

Opening exchanges between Canada and Japan on possible entry of Canadian apples into the Japanese market were described Thursday as encouraging by Industry, Trade and Commerce Minister Jean-Luc Pepin.

Mr. Pepin said technical discussions between the officials of the two countries were continuing on Canadian efforts to open the Japanese market. At present Japan does not allow entry of apples from any of the major apple-producing countries because of the danger in the spread to Japan of the codling moth, Japan itself remains free of the codling moth, an orchard pest that exists in Canada and most other apple-producing countries.

Scientists at the Canada Department of Agriculture must prove to Japan's satisfaction that pre-export procedures remove the danger of the codling moth being transmitted in Canadian apples. The Japanese have indicated that if Canada can provide the scientific evidence to satisfy their strict regulations, provision can be made for entry of Canadian apples.

Ian Greenwood, general manager of the B.C. Tree Fruits, said in Kelowna his reaction to Mr. Pepin's statement was one of "controlled optimism." He said he has been disappointed at the time which it has taken to find ways of eliminating the moth pest.

"The federal research station at Summerland has been working for quite some time on the moth problem and they have succeeded in many ways," he said.

He indicated however the stringent Japanese regulations require "mountains of proof" before they will accept apples from the Okanagan.

The Canadian government began queries into ending the ban of Canadian apples in Japan last summer when a team of government research scientists and trade and commerce specialists visited Japan.

It Would Take At Least A Year

In January of this year, Mr. Pepin and his parliamentary secretary, Okanagan-Boundary MP, Bruce Howard, raised the matter with the Japanese Minister of Agriculture.

In May additional scientific data from research tests and procedures to avoid the danger of transmitting the codling moth were given to Japanese plant health specialists who visited the Okanagan and the research station in Summerland. "Access to the Japanese apple market is a matter of continuing urgency by my department," said Mr. Pepin.

The length of time before Okanagan apples will line fruit stands in Japan is at least a year, according to B.C. Tree Fruits official, Mr. Greenwood.

"I've come to the conclusion that there will be no exports to Japan until at least the fall of 1973," Mr. Greenwood said.

Mr. Pepin meanwhile in Ottawa admitted there was much more work to be done before trade objectives were reached, but he was "very optimistic."

concerning the opening exchanges with Japan.

Mr. Greenwood said he thought any further initiative for the export of Okanagan apples to Japan must come from Japan. He said they (B.C. Tree Fruits) must now wait for word from Japan.

More Passes Fail At Jail

MATSQUI, B.C. (CP)—Matsqui prison officials Thursday temporarily suspended any new passes for prisoners after a 23-year-old man on compassionate leave was charged with rape and breaking and entering in North Vancouver.

An incident Wednesday following an incident Wednesday, will appear in court today. He was not identified.

Prison officials emphasized that the suspension of passes applies only to new leaves and that the decision was taken because of a series of leave-violations over the last three weeks, not because of any particular case.

Doug McGregor, superintendent of the Matsqui Institute, said the man was released under prison escort Tuesday because his mother was dying.

FATHER'S PLEA

He said the man's mother died shortly after his leave was granted and that his father asked permission for him to be released in his custody for the funeral.

Mr. McGregor said the man left his father's supervision while he was asleep under sedation.

He said five other men on temporary absences didn't return on schedule. One was tracked down by another prisoner and talked into returning to the prison. Another was found drunk by Seven Steps, an organization composed of prisoners and former prisoners.

Politicians On B.C. Hustings Prefer Established Mould

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The campaign for the Aug. 30 election in British Columbia continued in its established mould Thursday with the four party leaders sticking to their routine of luncheon speeches, main-streeting and meetings with small groups of party supporters.

Liberal Leader David Anderson made the main policy speech of the day, choosing as his subject the program a Liberal government would provide for the province's senior citizens.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, backed again by Labor Minister James Chabot, hit a New Democratic Party stronghold in the Kootenays and both men stuck to favorite themes such as the government's job-creation record and the dire effects of NDP ideology.

Conservative Leader Derrill Warren was in the northern part of the province for the second day, concentrating his efforts in Peace River South where Scored defector Don Marshall is carrying the Tory banner.

NDP chief Dave Barrett was in the Revelstoke area for a series of visits to hospitals and senior citizens' homes, with time out for a speech against legalization of marijuana, a defence of the party platform on taxation of natural resource industries and criticism of government policy on a proposed rail line to carry southeast B.C. coal to the coast via the United States.

ELIMINATE FEARS
In Massett, Liberal Leader Anderson told a luncheon meeting his program would eliminate elderly people's fear of becoming a burden on others.

"The way to meet this problem is to adopt a system of aiding established rest homes and building new ones which also would be given financial help," he said.

The cost: between $20 million and $25 million a year, less roughly $10 million which could be saved through elimination of unnecessary acute care service for medically marginal conditions common among the elderly.

Replacing 'Vicious System'

The estimate did not include capital costs, which Mr. Anderson said could be borrowed privately from the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, or through the involvement of service clubs.

The purpose of the scheme would be to "take care of most of the costs of private nursing home care" — replacing the "vicious" system whereby the elderly must pay up to $600 a month for nursing home care versus the $1 a day hospital charge under the provincial health plan.

COOL RECEPTION

Premier Bennett had a cool reception when he arrived in Kimberley, despite the fact that the Scoreds had run an intensive advertising campaign for several days announcing his imminent visit. About 40 persons turned up at a coffee gathering.

It didn't phase the premier, who maintained at an impromptu news conference that "I believe greatly in the power of advertising."

Moving on to Cranbrook, Mr. Bennett found the kind of crowd he likes — a mainly warm group of about 300 who turned out in the centre of NDP MLA Leo Nimsick's stronghold of Kootenay riding. Mr. Nimsick has held the seat since 1949, and the Scoreds would dearly love to get a piece of the action.

The premier remarked that during his 12-year reign he had been fair with Kootenay and asked: "Now don't you think it's time to be fair with us?"

There was a cheer from the crowd when Mr. Bennett announced a new hospital for the Sparwood area, although he gave no details.

Suspect Charged In Calgary Kidnap

CALGARY (CP) — Police have charged a man and recovered most of the $500,000 ransom money paid Thursday for the safe return of the kidnapped 17-year-old daughter of a construction executive.

Name of the man was not immediately available and the search for another man involved in the kidnapping continued today.

Two other men are being sought in the case.

Two armed men broke into the home of millionaire construction man Sam Hashman, president of Great West International Equities Ltd., about 9:30 a.m. Thursday and abducted Marlene, one of four daughters. She was released unharmed at 11:15 p.m.

Police said the men were paid in $20 bills marked with a substance which sticks to the hands and can be seen under ordinary light. A suitcase containing the money was left in the trunk of a car in a parking garage. The kidnappers then transferred the money to another car.

The men at the Hashman home bound and taped the mouths of two elderly housekeepers and three children, aged seven to 11. They stayed about 30 minutes before leaving with Marlene.

One of the children squirmed free and ran to a neighbor's house.

OBEYED PHONE CALLS

Police said Miss Hashman was kept in the trunk of a car left on the outskirts of the city. When she was released she went to a house to telephone home, and when she couldn't get through, phoned friends.

The money was placed in the car by Mr. Hashman, 42, sometime between 7 and 8 p.m. He drove around the city talking with the kidnappers by telephone at pre-arranged telephone booths. About six calls were made before the money was dropped.

Mr. Hashman was under surveillance but police took no further action for fear of jeopardizing Miss Hashman's safety. Insp. R. D. Pittman of the city police said in an interview. He said the kidnapping "appeared to be well planned."

"Sometimes we find out that amateurs plan things as well as professionals," he said, but would not elaborate.

THE WATCH DOG WENT TO POT

KARIS, Ky. (AP) — The law pounced on two pre-occupied pot pickers when Clyde, their watchdog, forgot his assignment.

The two men were jailed Wednesday on charges of possession of marijuana.

Sheriff Fred Bolling said he became suspicious of an auto parked near a field where marijuana was known to grow wild.

The men were spotted stuffing marijuana into 50-pound plastic bags.

There wasn't a sound out of Clyde. The sheriff said the dog had been stationed in the field to warn of intruders. Clyde went to the dog pound.

ONTARIO A-G STAYS

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Dalton Bales of Ontario said today he will remain in his cabinet portfolio despite his involvement in a property purchase in the area of the projected new international airport at nearby Pickering.

Mr. Bales told a news conference that he is transferring his interests in the 99 acres of Markham Township land purchased by himself and two partners to a trustee.

Food Prices Zoom Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Food prices soared last month with sharply higher price tags on meats and vegetables, sending the consumer price index up more than usual for this time of year.

Statistics Canada reported the index, based on 1961 prices equalling 100, rose for all commodities and services to 140.2 from 138.5 in June and 134.1 in July last year.

The food price index rose to 142.5 last month from 137.5 in June and 133.3 in July last year.

Restaurant meal prices, which have been soaring, rose moderately last month. The main food price increase was in foods bought for consumption at home.

In dollar terms, it cost $13.80 last month to buy a bag of groceries that cost $13.32 in June, an increase of 54 cents. That same bag of groceries cost $12.90 a year earlier.

For the whole of the average urban family's budget, it cost $14.02 last month to buy what $13.85 bought in June or $13.41 bought in July last year.

FIERY OBJECT ZIPS OVER

Valley's UFO Buffs Have Field Day

A fiery object in the sky over Kelowna Thursday afternoon had numerous residents rubbing their eyes in disbelief.

One of them, Brian Stewart, of Kelowna, said he and his brother Richard were driving east along Harvey Avenue about 2:30 p.m. when the object appeared. "We looked up and saw a bright flame and at first we thought it was a plane on fire. But after about 15 or 20 seconds, it disappeared."

"There were two men from an electrical firm in a truck behind us and when we stopped they asked us if we'd seen it. So I know I'm not nuts, it was there, whatever it was."

A lot of other people must have seen the object as well, for within minutes both the Courier and Kelowna Airport were deluged with calls from startled UFO-observers.

A spokesman at the airport, who asked not to be identified, said that within minutes of the sighting, the control towers had received four calls and the airport manager's office seven.

Other sightings were reported in Edmonton, Red Deer and Lethbridge in Alberta.

The Canadian sightings immediately followed others from scattered points across the Western United States.

A Frontier Airlines pilot flying over Utah saw an object pass underneath his plane.

U.S. observers described the fireball as being as large as 50 feet and as small as four feet in diameter. Varying reports said it was red, blue or orange.

In Missoula, Mont., an employee of the federal aviation administration said the fireball was at about 80,000 feet when it crossed east of the city.

A jet fighter pilot flying over southeastern Washington estimated the fireball was at 50,000 feet and travelling at 2,500 miles an hour. He said it had a pinkish trail.

The fireball apparently disappeared over Alberta.

Dr. W. R. Donner, a geology professor at the University of B.C. and the provincial representative on the National Research Council's subcommittee on meteorites, said in an interview that the fireball probably was in the van of the Persels meteor shower, expected to begin Saturday in northern hemisphere skies.

EYES WERE RUBBED

The Persels shower is a phenomenon that occurs when the earth passes an area of space with a higher-than-usual concentration of meteors. During the shower, the meteors appear to come from the constellation Perseus—hence the name Persels.

Dr. Donner said the unusual thing about Thursday's sightings was the variety of reports about the color of the fireball and the trail. Normally he said, fireballs seen in daylight are reddish with a white trail.

Trustees Reject Bus Service Bid

Students in the Power Creek area attending Westbank Secondary and elementary facilities must continue to walk to classes. Trustees of School District 23 (Central Okanagan) turned down a bid for bus service following a report by transportation committee chairman, C. D. Buckland, at the regular meeting of the board Thursday.

Parents residing in the Glencoe, Elliott and Smith Creek Road areas had submitted a 24-signature petition requesting the board consider bus service for 55 students in the area.

Mr. Buckland said trustees Gordon Johnson and L. P. Dordney, together with district bus superintendent, Harold Taylor, had surveyed the area and the committee felt the request was "unreasonable" since most students were within walking distance of area schools. Mr. Buckland added only two of the stated number of students were outside the walking distance designated by the board as two-and-a-half miles for elementary and three miles for secondary students.

The investigating group also found there were less students than the number stated in the petition. Parents with students outside the walking distance limit could appeal to the board for transportation assistance.

Mr. Buckland said, adding his committee was "open to further discussion" on the matter.

He indicated the main problem as lack of school buses which also precluded provision for courtesy riders. The nearest service to the Power Creek area followed a route in the Shannon Lake region.

In a related vein, the board agreed to look into a suggestion from Mr. Taylor to lease the old Sunnyvale school bus for transportation of Rutland students to Kelowna.

As recommended by the transportation committee, the board approved starting time at George Elliott Secondary School from 8:50 to 8 a.m., for the coming term to better accommodate students, two thirds of the time at 8:10 a.m., and must wait until the regular 8:50 a.m., starting time.

Band Gets Limited Permits; Chief Vows To Keep Fighting

The Westbank Indian band fish story is on the hook again. Chief Noll Derriksan received a letter from the provincial fish and wildlife branch notifying him members of his band may fish Okanagan River and Mission Creek certain days of the week and specific times of the year.

CHIEF NOLL DERRIKSAN ... awaiting appeal

The band lost a court battle with the branch last year following defiance of a decree banning fishing of spawning Kokanee in Deep Creek. A protest fish-in by 150 band members resulted in conviction and a fine of $1 on each charge of catching fish by impaling on a fork instead of luring fish by hook as in angling. Chief Derriksan said, adding Kokanee in a stream and taking game fish in non-tidal waters in a manner other than angling.

At that time, Chief Derriksan contended the fish and game branch had no right to interfere with Indian fishing since they (Indians) had been "fishing long before the white man appeared in this country."

COST $30,000

The band has an appeal pending in Vancouver court in October, and Chief Derriksan has vowed he will take the case to the supreme court if the appeal is lost.

"I feel the judgment should have been made in our favor instead of the wildlife branch," Chief Derriksan said, adding the courts "could have shown some feeling toward what Indians are trying to do."

He estimated the appeal to the supreme court will cost the band around $30,000 in legal fees.

The current directive from the wildlife branch designates permits may be obtained for fishing Okanagan River from October 1 to 15 "in that portion of Okanagan River upstream of the Highway 97 bridge at Skaha Lake to the footbridge serving the Pentiction golf course, but not including any tributaries therein."

The band may also fish Mission Creek from Sept. 15 to 30 from its mouth at Okanagan Lake upstream to the KLO bridge, but not including any tributaries.

He did concede the wildlife branch was right in "keeping people out" of certain creeks during the fish spawning season since indiscriminate tramping could destroy "thousands of eggs."

Sore points of the directive were the stipulation fishing permits are effective only on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and Kokanee may be taken only by the use of a "gaff."

"I don't think they have taken into consideration the mobility of the Indian," Chief Derriksan contended, adding the stipulation that fish may be taken only on certain days was "geared to the fisheries branch and not the convenience of the Indian" since Saturday and Sunday were the only free times band members had.

He termed the use of gaff only as "crazy" since the more feasible net precluded the possibility of injury to fish. The presence of "too many children" also made Mission Creek less than ideal as a fishing site, Chief Derriksan added.

Kokanee were so plentiful in Okanagan Lake, they failed to "run to size" anymore and the area was "one of the worst game management regions anywhere," Chief Derriksan declared.

Sewage Stench Sparks Protest By Residents

RUTLAND (Staff) — War has been declared in the area of Highway 97 near Reid's Corner. So far it's been just a battle of words, but it could develop into something stronger.

On one side are residents who claim their lives have been reduced to physical and mental nightmares because of sewage. On the other side is the alleged villain, Calona Wines.

An estimated 50 people turned up Thursday at the site of an old distillery used by the company near Reid's Corner, to protest the situation and about half that number were back on the scene early today.

All that is required is a resident be a Canadian citizen, be 19 years of age, and have resided in the city for the past six months. Residents may be placed on the list by obtaining a form from the city clerk at city hall, before September 29 at 4:30 p.m.

IN COURT

Donald Lorne Mitchell, of Rutland, appeared in provincial court charged with driving while under suspension and carrying a loaded firearm in a vehicle. The charges were remanded to Aug. 28 for plea.

Angelo Anthony Antonelli, of Kelowna, was fined $150 and had his driver's licence suspended for four months after being found guilty on a charge of dangerous driving. A second charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident was dismissed by Judge R. J. S. Moir.

Donald Stewart Vickerson, of Spruce Grove, Alberta, and counsel appear on his behalf concerning a charge of driving while having a blood-alcohol content exceeding .08. The case was remanded to Aug. 25 for plea.

Caroling Clough appeared on a charge of breaking a peace bond. The case was remanded to Aug. 25 to allow the accused to seek legal counsel.

Bilsam Estates Ltd. had legal counsel represent them after they were charged under the Income Tax Act. A remand without plea was granted to Aug. 18 by provincial Judge J. B. Hack.

John Charles Roberts, of Calgary, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while having a blood-alcohol content exceeding .08. He was fined $400 and had his driver's licence suspended for three months. A second charge of having studded snowtires on a car out of season brought a fine of $15.

David Albert Serwa, of Kelowna, pleaded guilty to a charge of indecent exhibition. The charge arose after an incident Thursday at a local hotel beer parlour where the accused was apparently celebrating his 19th birthday. Judge D. B. Hack reprimanded the accused for his actions, suspended sentence and imposed a probation period of six months.

Bruce Eugene Roper of Rutland appeared in provincial court on a charge of using a firearm in a manner dangerous to the public. The case was remanded to Aug. 15 to allow the accused to seek legal counsel.

Tait Adds His Voice

The unbearable aroma has even offended the nose of South Okanagan Liberal candidate, Roger Tait, who told an impromptu Rutland meeting Thursday "you don't have to be any kind of an expert to know the stench pollution at Reid's Corner is wrong, wrong, wrong."

Mr. Tait observed the situation was a "perfect example of how hollow are the extravagant promises of the Soared government," adding the premier "boasts that B.C. has the toughest pollution control laws of any province in Canada but, if that is so, then we have the worst enforcement record imaginable."

He suggested residents of the area deserved the support of all political candidates in the coming election. "It is obvious now that the premier is going to spend very little time in this riding. We must not let him take the people here for granted," Mr. Tait said.

WOULD-BE APPRAISERS

A Warning To Farmers

Farmers across the country have been warned to be on the lookout for people offering their services for a fee as professional appraisers.

Department of national revenue taxation officials indicate that individuals or representatives of companies any they'll do the work for purposes of the new capital gains provision of the revised Income Tax Act and that many farmers have gained the impression these persons are taxation department employees.

Not so, according to the taxation department.

Gary Huva, of Kelowna, secretary of the Okanagan-Kootenay chapter of the Appraisal Institute of Canada, said today no reports of bogus appraisers had been received locally, but added, "It is possible individuals have been approached here without our finding out."

"These people are pretty smooth and they'll leave as soon as somebody starts to investigate them."

"There was a complaint at our last meeting in Toronto. Apparently these guys are trying to horn in on the work of accredited appraisers like ourselves, particularly on the prairies."

"But I'm not saying it hasn't happened here. It's really only when a person goes to sell his property that the matter of appraisal comes up so it's very possible there have been incidents locally, but we just haven't heard about them."

"I would suggest that if somebody is approached, they contact either myself or the income tax office in Pentiction and we'll get them straightened out pretty fast."

In a recent statement, taxation department officials said the department is not engaged in the appraisal of properties for other than specific purposes and never charges a fee.

UP TO OWNER

"The responsibility for establishing the Valuation Day fair market value of one's property under the capital gains provision is that of the owner. In effort on the part of the owner, most cases this requires little effort on the part of the owner.

"Some owners may wish to engage professional appraisers, depending upon the types of property they own and the department does not wish to discourage owners from doing so."

But the department emphasizes that any appraisers now engaged in establishing values for owners at a fee are not federal employees and points out that, "for purposes of capital gains, the department will not necessarily accept automatically any appraisal, by either an owner or a professional appraiser."

"All employees of the Department of National Revenue, Taxation, carry credentials."

"If they call on any property owner, it will be for a specific purpose relating to that individual property owner and not to solicit appraisal work."

"If the property owner is in doubt about the identity of his caller, he should ask for credentials."

Tory Candidate Calls For Environmental Commission

Jim Doak, Conservative candidate for South Okanagan in the forthcoming provincial election, has called for the appointment of an environmental commission to "preserve and create for today and the future" what he terms the Mediterranean of Canada in the Okanagan Valley.

"The Okanagan needs action now to develop a co-ordinated program assuring that we and our posterity shall preserve environmental areas and productive grape, fruit and agricultural lands."

Roads, irrigation, utilities and public works, says Mr. Doak, "should not be built in isolation and as an unrelated maze of scars along valuable agricultural, recreational creek and lakefront land."

"A blueprint, not a patchwork," he says, is needed to properly develop the Valley. Valley creeks and lakes, according to Mr. Doak, "should be left in a recreational heartland for the people, bordered with boulevards and linear green strips along creeks and lakes."

"To facilitate this, taxation of improvements to lands used for agricultural purposes, particularly vineyards and orchards, should be deferred for periods of time to encourage the owners to preserve these resources for the benefit of both themselves and future generations."

"Co-ordination at all levels of government, community groups and bodies working together and not at cross-purposes or in political clash, can attain this in the near future.

"Such progressive tax incentives and land use contracts can provide a number of facilities."

LAND BANK

These facilities could include, says Mr. Doak, a land bank system, which would provide a "hedge" against inflation and a home sites corporation which would provide land direct to the prospective home owner; a protective environmental circle in the south Okanagan, which would protect the lake from effluent discharges; lakeshore roads and boulevards, along with parkway by-passes and roads into the city core; safe swimming accesses; preservation of Okanagan fruit land and expansion of the grape industry; putting effluent back into the land as usable fertilizer and the development of more fishing lakes and ponds "to maintain and develop a string of pearls for unspoiled sports."

Finally, Mr. Doak feels the establishment of an Okanagan Parks Commission is necessary to further develop proper public recreation facilities for such things as golf, tennis and lawn bowling, at nominal fees.

Mr. Doak feels his environmental blueprint is necessary to preserve what he calls the three mainstays of life in the Okanagan Valley — recreation, jobs and beauty.

Howard Going To Peking For Canadian Trade Fair

Bruce Howard, MP for Okanagan-Boundary and Parliamentary secretary to Jean Luc Pepin, federal minister of industry, trade and commerce, leaves Vancouver today for the Canadian Trade Fair in Peking.

The fair runs for two weeks, starting Aug. 16, with more than 200 Canadian companies and some 500 Canadian businessmen attending. It is expected 150,000 Chinese business and industrial representatives and the public will attend the fair.

Mr. Howard will join External Affairs Minister Mitchell, Sharp at Vancouver for the flight to Peking. Mr. Sharp is making a state visit to the Chinese capital.

Mr. Howard said in Pentiction Tuesday this is the first Canadian trade fair in China. Canadians have attended the trade fair in Canton to view exhibits of Chinese production for sale to Canada.

B.C. companies, including those from the forest industry will be represented in Peking. Canadian machinery, chemicals and minerals will be included in the fair.

Mr. Howard said he feels this fair is an important move to a new frontier. The balance of trade between the two countries now favors Canada. This is mainly due to the large wheat sales. Canada is now the sole foreign supplier of wheat to China, said Mr. Howard.

Mr. Howard said he feels Canada's early trade with China and being the first to give Peking official recognition has helped in her favorable trade position with China.

Mr. Howard will not stay in Peking for the full term of the fair but will travel to Manila to sign a new trade agreement between Canada and the Philippines.

Mr. Howard said a new trading opportunity has developed with the Philippines because of a situation with the U.S. and Canada is endeavoring to move into the Philippine market.

Forest Hazard Now Explosive; Rangers Urge Extreme Caution

The forest fire hazard in the Kelowna ranger district is now "high to extreme" and the branch advises "extraordinary precautions."

Four new fires in the district this week have increased the total to 17 blazes since the fire season began May 1. Most are attributed to carelessness, a forest branch spokesman indicated.

Local foresters were called out Wednesday to check a man-made smolder in East Kelowna, and crews returned the same day to the Lakeview garbage dump to help contain a blaze which was set under supervision.

Two more fires Thursday in the Michelle Creek and East Kelowna areas added to ranger burdens, the latter of which was attributed to human carelessness at a garbage dump in the Sterling Road area. A local forest ranger spokesman described the blaze as being "potentially disastrous" since the fire site was surrounded by grass.

The Michelle Creek blaze was a hang-over from spring burning operations and described as a spot fire.

Because of the current high fire hazard rating, the local forest branch has curtailed burning permits and new applications are being screened closely. The branch has also issued warnings against indiscriminate burning by residents of trash at garbage dump sites, particularly the Westbank refuse site.

Accidents Reported

A three-car accident on Highway 97 South Thursday caused an estimated $1,140 damage to cars driven by Arnold Lowes, Edward Naka, and Glen Peterson, all of Kelowna. No injuries were reported.

In Kelowna, a rash of two-car accidents occurred Thursday afternoon, the first of which happened at the corner of Ellis and Bernard when $500 damage was estimated to vehicles driven by Gifford Senepe of Westbank and Marvin Giffon of Kelowna.

A second incident occurred at the corner of Lawrence Avenue and Richter Street when $500 damage was caused to vehicles driven by Rosa Roberts and William Tombs both of Kelowna. No injuries were reported in either mishap.

In a third two-car smash Thursday, Patricia Heffernan, was treated and released from Kelowna General Hospital after she was hurt in an accident involving cars driven by Kenneth Klassen of Kelowna and Robert Rymner of Rutland. Damage was estimated at $400. The injured girl was a passenger in the Klassen vehicle.

IT WORKED . . .

FOR SALE: Girl's bicycle, like new, reasonably priced. Just a simple little ad in Kelowna's most popular marketplace, the classified section of the Courier. How do we know it's popular? The lady who placed it said, "It got a good response — no good, we sold the bike the first day and could have sold a few more what with all the calls we had." Why not make us work for you? For Courier classified assistance, call 763-3228.

BRUSH FIRE: A careless smoker is believed to have caused a minor brush fire Wednesday in East Kelowna. It was extinguished by members of the B.C. forestry suppression crew, who were also called to the Lakeview Heights dump when it became too hot for comfort.

Unsettled

Sunny skies in the morning, but afternoon cloudiness and the possibility of thunderstorms in the weatherman's outlook for Saturday, which should see high temperatures near 80 degrees for the Central Okanagan. High and low in the city Thursday was 80 and 57 degrees, with no precipitation, compared to 81 and 47 degrees at the airport. Overnight lows today will be in the mid-50s.

Rutland Demands Action On Wine Waste Disposal

For a long time residents near Reid's Corner have patiently endured smell from sewage being dumped by Calona Wines. Now they want action.

The company is one of the industries that will use the Brent's Creek trade waste treatment plant in the city. Until that plant is ready, waste will have to be trucked from Richter Street to Reid's Corner.

Meantime, the humid weather combined with the smell makes residents physically and mentally sick. In desperation they call regional board representatives late at night. The only satisfaction the board can get is that officials of the B.C. pollution control board at Vernon are checking the matter.

The company says it has done everything in its power, and it is just a matter of time. Maybe so, but, during that time, residents will have to live with the smell.

Mayor Hilbert Roth and his council have complained about people from outside the city using Kelowna facilities. Why do they not make as much noise about a city company dumping such a large quantity of smelly refuse outside the boundaries?

Why did the pollution control board grant permission for the company to use the site in 1967? What restrictions were put on them?

Another matter that concerns the health of the people in the Rutland area is the system of water sampling.

The B.C. health department has shown a shameful lack of concern for the very thing it is supposed to protect—the health of the people of this province.

The department proposes to continue its time-wasting process of sending water samples by bus to Vancouver, and mailing reports back. This means that, as happened in Rutland in June, reports were received that water samples taken June 6 and 7 were polluted. By the time people had been advised to boil water, further samples indicated no pollution.

The media disseminated the information about bad water, and was promptly called down.

Health inspectors could do tests here, but have so much other work to do it is easier to bundle the water off to Vancouver.

Health minister Ralph Loffmark says the department has found it cheaper and more effective to send samples by bus than by plane.

He also says laboratory officials are instructed to phone health units when they encounter dangerous situations. Six of the 18 samples had pollution, and that was not considered dangerous!

The situation is further complicated because laboratory personnel do not work Saturdays or Sundays. Why not give them a few hours of overtime during the summer months, when prompt testing and dispatch of reports is vital?

Some money that is presently going towards paying shipping expenses and postage could go towards paying someone here to do the tests. But if Mr. Loffmark wishes to continue the present system, he should at least order that samples be sent by air and laboratory officials phone if pollution is shown, no matter how slight the amount.

Meet Needs Of Nature

In the beginning, natural forces kept in order the animal and vegetable resources of the earth. Not until man learned to use fire and invented tools was the balance upset.

Nature has not been able to keep control in competition with our increasing technical skills. As a consequence, the world of living things is in great danger of damage or destruction, says the Royal Bank's August newsletter.

This does not mean that everyone should panic, but that everyone should do what he can to reduce the harmful effects upon nature of his way of living, and even to go so far as to adapt his way of living so as to meet the needs of nature.

When the first settlers came to Canada about 370 years ago their presence mattered little. They were few in number and this is a huge continent. The coming of the railway, the highway and the airplane, and the building of cities, have separated us from consciousness of the basis of life as it was then and still remains: the land, the water, the wild creatures that inhabit them, and the air.

Some people look upon the effort to conserve nature as being nothing else than a desire to preserve beauty.

This is a mistaken idea. Unless we conserve our natural resources we forfeit life.

Man stands at the apex of the life pyramid, but his indifference to the needs of other forms of living beings threatens to undermine the entire structure and bring it tumbling down.

It is commonplace in this age to elevate "realism" to almost the status of a religion, but it is not practical realism to eat, drink and smell dirt; it does not indicate the possession of great intelligence to wait until the prairie blows in dust storms before acting to preserve it; or to procrastinate until disease flows abundantly through kitchen taps before compelling cities and towns to purify their waste water; or to linger until thousands of people die of disease imposed upon them by smog before banning the pollutants that poison the air.

Individuals and their societies speak fluently of this or that, according to their special interests, as being a desirable way of life. Conservation of our resources goes far beyond that: conservation is, literally and unmistakably, the only way to preserve life. Without conservation, the people of the world are emptying the icebox for a glorious feast tonight, disregarding the need for meals tomorrow.

Computer Age Poses Problems

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Financial Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

OTTAWA — The Trudeau government still has a long way to go before it comes up with a sensible policy for adjustment to the computer age. This became apparent this week when Communications Minister Robert Stanbury released the two-volume report of a "Computer Communications" task force.

Whether people like it or not the computer is here to stay and it is going to make automatic records of a vast range of facts which have hitherto been strictly personal and private to the people and institutions involved.

What's more, through the marriage of computers with automatic telecommunications, it can make those facts available to the world at large. The possibility looms, that, unless regulated, any person may find out how much any other person has in his bank account, to whom he is issuing cheques and how much.

It may be a great convenience, may effect important savings but it poses problems. A few years ago computer services were beginning. Last year there were 3,600 in use, 40,000 people were employed in supplying and servicing them and the industry's total revenue was $392 million.

CASH MAY VANISH
The United States, the home of the computer, was even further advanced. Canada must move faster into computerism just to keep up.

Before long cheques, and perhaps cash, may disappear. Individuals will carry credit cards, present them to their local merchants and have their purchases automatically recorded and the amounts debited to their bank accounts.

Some of the task force's recommendations aim at protecting the privacy of the individual in the computer age. It says the telecommunications carrier which relays the state of one's bank account to another person, must be an independent company. It shouldn't be affiliated with the company which processes a cheque, or whatever takes the place of cheques, through the bank account. It also suggests banks should be limited in the kind of data processing services they offer their customers. Such services should be confined to transactions related to the business of banking. It also wants data processing kept strictly commercial and on a pay-as-you-go basis. So it warns against universities, some of which have a lot of know-how due to research, being allowed to go into business commercially as data processors, because they enjoy public support through tax exemptions and grants.

GROUND RULES
There is no question that government will move ahead with establishing the ground rules under which business can set up a new system for the transfer of funds that will largely dispense with the need for cash or cheques in the way they are now used. The one thing that may cause delay is reaching a decision about how to protect the privacy of individual transactions, and the size of a person's bank account.

Some constitutional problems will arise. These may call for concurrent legislation by parliament and all the provincial legislatures. Failing that, business firms might be confronted with a different situation in every province.

As of now the federal government has complete jurisdiction over banks and banking, and the issue of currency. The provincial legislatures, however, have sole jurisdiction over "property and civil rights." That includes the law about what constitutes a contract, what contracts are enforceable and what are not.

Chain store companies, department stores, railways and other firms would have trouble carrying on business if different rules applied in different provinces. As of now the solution of a constitutional change to give additional powers to the federal government may not be feasible. It would require consent of all provinces and, in its prevailing mood, Quebec is not disposed to cede any more authority to the federals.

No Time To Repair Town Clock In Flood-Battered Forty Fort

FORTY FORT, Pa. (AP) — The clock stopped at 9:35 in the borough, halting the raging Susquehanna River gushed in that terrible night of June 23.

"Who's got time to fix that when there's people and homes and businesses to be concerned with?" asked Mayor Ernest Balcomb.

But time hasn't stopped in this tiny flood-wrecked town, part of the battered Wyoming Valley that still is dazed and still cleaning up the soggy mess nearly seven weeks after the greatest natural disaster in U.S. history caused an estimated $1 billion damage.

Neighboring Wilkes-Barre, a city of 59,000 that was half damaged, is the hub of the wrecked area.

Balcomb said full recovery probably won't come till next summer.

"I don't know how the people are going to spend the winter," he said. "I think every home heating system in my town was affected."

Forty Fort has about 2,100 homes. Less than 100 were undamaged after the rain-swollen river cracked through a 38-foot dike, first burst across a cemetery here and disinterring about 1,500 bodies.

The enormity of destruction still is being assessed. At least 30,000 homes were damaged, and more than half of these won't be ready for occupancy until this winter, or later.

Around 20,000 persons, almost one-third of those initially idled, haven't been able to resume their jobs.

On Public Square, heart of Wilkes-Barre's downtown, only 26 of nearly 75 businesses have reopened.

The Red Cross still is feeding thousands daily.

Twelve public schools, severely hit, hope to begin classes as scheduled after Labor Day.

The main problem is finding shelter for the flood victims.

It is estimated there are 45,000 homeless, roughly 18 per cent of the Valley's total population and the federal government has promised to put a new, temporary roof over their heads.

LETTER TO EDITOR

It has been the policy of the Daily Courier for many years that when a public election has been announced letters to the editor concerning the election or candidates running for public office will not be published. Premier W. A. C. Bennett has called an election in B.C. Aug. 29 and in accordance with the newspaper's policy any letters concerning the elections will not be published.

SCENTED ISSUE

Sir: I read on the District Page of the Courier, Aug. 8, that the smell is improving from wine waste. This is not true.

I wish the writer of that article were here right now to smell the stench coming from that waste disposal.

This foul stench is apt to come at any time, spoiling all our outdoor living and polluting our homes so that we seldom have a good night's sleep.

Visitors come and go and ask why we tolerate such air pollution? Why does this Kelowna firm dump their garbage on our doorstep? Why not take it where it doesn't bother any one?

We have lived here 19 years and very happy years until this foul air pollution came along.

Who'll Be Footing Bill To Rid Us Of Pollution?

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Granby La Voix de l'Est: The matter of air and water pollution has come to the forefront in recent years.

According to specialists, we are all threatened. If we fold our arms instead of doing something, if we don't change our behavior, if we don't take this threat seriously, we will suffer the consequences of our negligence.

Under the circumstances, this does not mean studying the cost of reducing pollution and knowing it is possible to rid ourselves of it, but rather that we should get to work without the slightest delay.

Programs are already prepared at federal, provincial and municipal levels.

The federal government, for example, has allocated more than $50 million for the next four years to be used in eradicating pollution caused by federal institutions. These installations will be equipped with the most modern anti-pollution devices.

The federal government is cleaning up its own house. It is taking the first steps so that it will be in a good position to tell others what must be done.

As for the private sector, it is generally in the process of taking steps to stop being a source of pollution. . . . But when the problem is the most difficult to solve, it seems, is at the level of the provinces and municipalities whose revenues are too limited to permit large-scale programs.

Purifying the water itself is an expensive which runs into hundreds of millions of dollars.

Can Quebec call on the municipalities? Their taxpayers are already heavily burdened. However, water pollution is an urgent problem. What is to be done? Where will the funds for this project come from?

The whole population is exposed to the dangers of pollution. If nothing is done, for example, in underprivileged areas, many people will be victims of pollution.—Roland Gagne (Aug. 4)

Montreal Le Devoir: The inter-provincial conference in Halifax would perhaps be the first success of the "quiet diplomacy" which Premier Bourassa has chosen to obtain reform of Quebec's constitutional status within Canadian federalism.

It is, however, a fragile success, still symbolic and intangible, perhaps even ephemeral because it depends wholly on what concrete action comes out of the principle.

BIBLE BRIEF

"Behold, I am the Lord, the God of all flesh: is there anything too hard for me?" Jeremiah 32:27.

EXPANDED HOBBY

MONTREAL (CP) — The overhead garage door at the Lebeau home slides up out of sight each morning to reveal the red door of the Coco Boutique. Andre Lebeau, of nearby Otterburn Heights set up the shop in one-half of the family's garage three years ago, after her two children were off to school, to give her an outlet for her sewing hobby. The hobby has mushroomed into a popular shop, a fabric supply business, and a sewing school.

ples agreed on in Halifax.

The points which Quebec made, notably those dealing with urban affairs and communications, are only marked on the scorecard of the least functional of political arenas in this country—that of the annual provincial premiers' conference.

Because residual legislative powers belong to the federal government, because the right to disburse these powers let it monopolize financial blackmail, the provinces' power of bargaining with Ottawa is very restrained, even when they are working together.

The statement on urban affairs was, without contradiction, the strongest position adopted at Halifax.

But for the Halifax agreement to have a long-term effect, the provinces must agree on the interpretation of the principles it sets forth as well as on the legislative and administrative modifications which would permit them to establish those principles in the country's political reality.

The purity of federal intentions, however solemnly proclaimed, is not enough. And we have every reason to doubt the effectiveness of negotiations on urban affairs between Ottawa and the provinces in order to see how the provincial concessions triumph.

Truthfully speaking, the only way to get this result and to avoid duplications like St. Scholastique and housing fiascos would be to give the provinces the right of veto on every federal project having an effect on land development—no airport, post office or federal building, for example, unless it is located where the province judges it appropriate. . . .—Claude Lemelin (Aug. 7)

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste: The head of the Parti Quebecois, Rene Levesque, has announced his party will participate, completely and intensely, in the next federal elections with the stated goal of overthrowing the federal regime and of "oil" the electoral machine" for the 1974 Quebec elections.

This astonishing decision overrules what was decided several months ago. At that time, the Parti Quebecois had decided to only vote at attacks mounted against it by the federal parties. It had not only decided to counter federal arguments but also to convince Quebec of the advantages of independence by "using federalism as a foil."

In reality this new position of the Parti Quebecois seems complex to us, if not ambiguous.

How can it honestly defend its goal, which is to destroy federalism, and at the same time not preach abstention?

All the candidates in the race, with the exception of some independent candidates, will defend and preach the benefits of federalism or at least what they believe to be the benefits. We do not foresee how the Parti Quebecois, under such circumstances, can refrain from urging the people not to vote?

The Parti Quebecois risks coming out of this confrontation on the losing end because the party elected, whether it is Liberal, Progressive Conservative, New Democratic or even Creditiste, will inevitably be a federal party. . . .

If the Progressive Conservative party obtains the favor of the people the problem will remain for the independentists because they will have only succeeded in exchanging one federalist party for another.

There is also the danger that a victory for the Trudeau team could be interpreted among the people of Quebec as a personal defeat.

The Parti Quebecois is playing a dangerous game from which it cannot emerge victorious. —Sylvio Saint-Amant (Aug. 5)

CANADA'S STORY

Washington Played 2 Different Roles

By BOB BOWMAN

George Washington played a strange role in Canadian history. First, as a British officer, he helped capture Canada from France. Then, during the American revolutionary war, he tried to capture Canada and got a great deal of help from France. Washington might have succeeded in capturing all the British North American colonies if he had attacked the Maritimes at the beginning of the war. Instead, he sent troops to attack Montreal and Quebec. Montreal fell easily, but the Americans were defeated at Quebec and had to withdraw their troops from Canada.

In November, 1775, when the Americans were attacking Montreal and Quebec, there were only 126 able-bodied troops in the garrison at Halifax and they would have had to defend what is now Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island. The Americans could have captured the entire territory and then blockaded the St. Lawrence so the British could not get troops and supplies up the river to Canada.

Washington was reluctant to attack Nova Scotia. The New England colonies were in favor and their ships raided many of the coastal villages. They felt that Nova Scotia should have joined them in the revolt against Britain. However, on Aug. 11, 1775, Washington said

"That province has not acceded, it is true, to the measures of Congress, but it has not commenced hostilities against them nor are any to be apprehended. To attack it therefore is a measure of conquest rather than defence."

Historians have neglected the exciting story of the sea war off the coast of the Maritimes. One of the British frigates that took part had a young captain, Horatio Nelson. He fell in love with a girl at Quebec and that story will be told on the appropriate date.

New Rules Affecting Boaters Come Into Force By October

OTTAWA (CP) — Operators of small motorboats can be swayed by the law for a variety of offenses—handling their craft dangerously, towing water skiers after dark, falling to stop at an accident scene and, most recently, for operating their boats while drunk or drugged.

But they can't be pinched for ignoring instructions spelled out on the small transport department plaque that is attached to every boat under 16 feet long and powered by more than a 10-horsepower motor. The plaque sets out recommended power and weight limits.

Capt. R. D. Mills of the small boat operators section of the federal department's marine safety branch said horsepower and gross load recommendations are simply that—recommendations.

It's up to owners and operators to see that the recommended limits aren't breached. Several things encourage small boat operators to observe the limits, Capt. Mills said.

Insurance companies charge higher premiums to applicants who drastically overpower their vessels, similar to the higher rates charged to owners of "mule trucks," he said.

POSITION NOT GOOD
And operators run the risk of really "being in the glue" with police if they are caught breaching the load and power limits in addition, say, to operating the boat dangerously.

The small vessel regulations of the Canada Shipping Act say the load and power recommendations must be stamped on all small outboards "in a plainly visible position."

The two figures on each stamped plate are calculated through a complex formula that takes into account a boat's dimensions and curves. The gross load capacity is the combined weight of the boat, motor, equipment and passengers.

The horsepower figure states the recommended amount of power that can safely run the boat with a full load.

Hence, Capt. Mills explained, if an operator decided to use a motor smaller than the size recommended, he could theoretically carry more equipment or an extra passenger.

The load and power figures are based on the performance of a large number of boats tested on special courses. Boat manufacturers and importers participate in the tests.

About 50,000 of the plates are issued every year, Capt. Mills said. Many are issued individually to boat owners. Others are issued in bulk to manufacturers who sell standard-sized boats with motors.

Once the boat is on the water, the transport department requires that it carry one approved life jacket or floatable cushion for each passenger. Jackets do not have to be worn, but must be on every boat under 18 feet long, including rowboats and canoes with motors attached.

Larger boats required what is called a standard lifejacket—manufactured in one style only. There are no set rules saying who is responsible for providing lifejackets, Capt. Mills said. Generally it is the person who owns or operates the boat.

"If the guy who takes the boat out," Capt. Mills said, "if, however, a boat is rented it is reasonable to assume that the person renting the boat to another will provide the lifejackets or cushions."

MUST BE DECIDED
The matter must be worked out between the renter and the operator before the boat is taken out.

The latest list of transport department regulations affecting boaters will come into effect Oct. 1. These will require boaters to carry an additional number of marine publications and charts.

Details have yet to be worked out, but the new regulations will probably affect most cruising boats weighing more than a few tons and used for travelling substantial distances.

The regulations, were published in July in the department's Canadian Notices to Mariners, and will require "all self-propelled ships in waters under Canadian anti-pollution jurisdiction" to carry such publications as the Great Lakes Pilot, Radio Aids to Marine Navigation, List of Lights, Buoy and Fog Signals, Tide and Current Tables, and the most recent issue of the Code of Navigation Practices and Procedures.

All the charts and publications, which could cost boaters between $10 and $30, would have to be kept up to date and many would have to be kept on board the boat.

Former City Girl Wed In Vancouver

Doreen Elaine Fresorger and Frank Arthur Dupuis were united in marriage in a ceremony held in St. Augustine's Church in Vancouver, Aug. 5 at 5:30 p.m. The church was decorated with white daisies, pink roses and greenery.

The bride, formerly of Kelowna, now of Vancouver, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fresorger of Kelowna. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donat Dupuis of Cobden, Ont.

Officiating clergyman was Rev. McCann.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of doekin satin with overlay of sparkle organza, featuring an empire waist, softly gathered skirt, long sleeves in sparkle organza trimmed with Venice lace and frilled stand-up collar. The gown was made by the mother of the bride.

NYLON TULLE

The floral seadress held four layers of nylon tulle, tiered and scalloped, trimmed with tiny roses with a pearl centre. She carried a bouquet of trail-ging pink roses. Something old as a handkerchief of the bride's great, great grandmother, while something new was a garter.

Lynn Herbert was maid of honor, Jean Blair of Langley was bridesmaid and Sandra Heron of Kamloops was flower girl. The attendants wore empire waist gowns, styled similar to the brides, in a light blue polyester crepe, featuring long chiffon sleeves, trimmed with white and blue lace. Head-dresses were tiny rosebuds. They carried bouquets of white carnations and daisies.

The flower girl wore a long gown in white and blue flocked daisies, featuring white accessories. She carried a basket of daisies and wore blue rosebuds in her hair.

Best man was Mick Donnelly of Vancouver, while the ushers were Les Fresorger of Van-

Mechanical Heart Is Ticking Like Time Bomb

TORONTO (CP) — Sandra Frederick arrived here Wednesday from Houston with a mechanical heart valve inside her that she said "ticks like a time bomb."

The 25-year-old Toronto mother of three has a new lease on life following an operation in Houston, Tex., two weeks ago by Dr. Michael DeBakey who has performed 75 such operations.

Dinner Wednesday night was the beginning of a four-to-five-month recovery period during which she expects to regain her strength and the more than 30 pounds she has lost.

The five-foot, 10-inch woman weighs 87 pounds. After weight recovery she hopes to lead a normal life.

A month ago she was given no more than five years of life unless she underwent an operation that would cost her at least $2,500. She had no hope of raising that amount.

Her heart specialist had told her the operation to replace the aortic valve—and other complications—had never been performed in Toronto. He recommended she go to Dr. DeBakey.

But as a deserted wife with three small children and living on $244-a-month mother's allowance, Mrs. Frederick saw no hope of raising the money for the air fare or the medical expenses.

Then a local newspaper wrote of her plight and readers began donating money to make the trip possible.

Ontario Health Insurance Plan officials originally said they would pay only 75 per cent of hospital costs and 90 per cent of the fee agreed for the operation by the Ontario Medical Association.

But this stand was revised and the provincial officials agreed to pay all hospital costs.

Dr. DeBakey agreed to accept whatever fee OHP agreed to pay.

Japanese Women Can Now Boast Beautiful Legs

TOKYO (AP) — There was a time when Japanese women were so sensitive about the shape of their legs that any man who valued a girl's friendship never would mention them. No more.

Girls now flaunt their legs—and sometimes more—in miniskirts and hot pants, and leg watchers are delighted.

The shape has changed from the days critics considered the legs of Japanese girl too short, too heavy and, some added unchivalrously, too hairy.

Prof. Yoshiyasu Nakao of the National College of Fine Arts in Tokyo has spent years studying Japanese legs. He says a high-protein diet and Western living habits popular since the Second World War have changed things.

In the past, says Nakao, the Japanese lived on a high-starch diet and women spent hours squatting on straw-matted floors. Today they sit more in chairs, eat Western foods, and, like Western women, are more active in sports which help tone their muscles.

WOMAN MAYOR LITTLE SHOCKED

WHITEBY, Ont. (CP) — Two overseas mayors visited Whiteby's town council this week and one was slightly shocked.

Mayor Kathleen Goodfellow of Dover, England, said she found it a little surprising and even shocking that the council has no women members.

Mayor Des Newman assured her that this was the exception rather than the rule here.

Mr. Newman presented the British mayor and visiting Mayor Mito Peovski of Titova, Yugoslavia, with gifts bearing Whiteby's town crest.

Where's Italians In Italian Fashion Shows?

ROME (AP) — What's become of the Italians in Italian high fashions?

Couturiers showing their fall-winter collections recently in Rome included four Americans, a Russian, a German, a Turk, a Swiss and a Frenchman—nine out of the 22 who paraded their models.

It is not unusual in the world of fashions for non-nationals to try their luck in one of the capitals of haute couture. But in Italy, the foreign invasion has coincided with a decline of the Italian couturiers.

ANN LANDERS

Normal People Often Ignorant And Rude

Dear Ann Landers: When most people learn you have a retarded child they tend to write him off as useless. Why isn't a better job of education done so the public will know that most retarded people can look after their personal needs, do housework, make meals, sew, and even hold jobs.

Retarded people have different intelligence levels. Some are smarter than others, just like the nonafflicted. I have encountered a great number of people who are under the impression that all retarded children must be put away. When I tell them our child lives at home and attends a special school they seem surprised.

This special school takes children from five through 18. The ones who can learn reading, writing and math. Those who aren't able to handle these subjects are given vocational training. Everyone moves at his own speed. The ones who are equal to specialized training graduate to a sheltered workshop to learn woodwork, commercial painting, farming, how to operate simple machines, baking, carpentry and handicrafts.

Please print my letter as a favor to all parents of retarded children who encounter so much ignorance from people who should know better. — Toronto Mother

Dear Mother: Here it is with my thanks. You have educated several million people today.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are in our 50s. We have had a good marriage for more than 30 years, with fine children and grandchildren.

About a year ago, I discovered my husband's collection of pornographic pictures and literature. I found the collection by accident and it is making me sick.

I could accept another woman in his life easier than this filthy junk. It would not seem so abnormal. A woman could at least do something for him. These dirty pictures and scummy short stories, with language such as I have never heard in all my life, seem so unnatural.

We have discussed this openly and he says it's a hobby, like stamp collecting. He claims there's something wrong with me because I don't get turned on by it. Tell me, Ann, is something wrong with me—or is it him?—Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear App: You're fine, dear. He's a case of arrested development. Grown men who get their jollies from smutty pictures are like little boys who sneak behind the barn to do naughty things. Bear with him and one day he may get bored—just as a large segment of society is getting bored with dirty movies and naked stage plays.

Dear Ann Landers: I wasn't satisfied with your smart-aleck answer to that 17-year-old boy who wrote to say he was making it with 12 girls and was dead tired all the time. He needed advice and you gave him zilch.

I would be glad to help him out. I am a 16-year-old fellow who isn't making it with anybody. If you will put me in touch with him I'd be happy to take over some of his obligations. I have a motorcycle so it's OK if he lives some distance from me. (I live in Vallejo.) Please print this soon so he will know he has a buddy who wants to help. —Randy of T.L.Q.

Dear Randy: That kid (he lives in Fullerton, Calif.) received dozens of offers of assistance from big-hearted fellows who were willing to come from as far away as Boise, but it is not my policy to put readers in touch with one another. Thanks for your offer, but no dice.

Trout Hitting In Okanagan

By JIM TREADGOLD

Fishing is about normal in the mountain lakes for this time of season. In general, fishing is fairly slow during the heat of the day with best activity in early morning or evening.

Kokanee are still being taken in number on Okanagan Lake, on the willow troll and No. 1 Dick Nite on fairly deep lines. There have been three nice-sized trout weighed in this week, with the largest being taken by Larry Gorbey—a 10 pound, 12 ounce Kamloops trout.

With the water level receding quite fast, spin casting at the rocky, deep water areas along the lake should start producing trout in the one to two-pound size. Spin or bait-cast with a flatfish on small nicker wobbler like the F.S.T. No. 2.

Rocks in the Bear Creek and Wilson's Landing areas have always been good for this type of fishing, with best luck usually in the mornings until about 10 a.m.

Beaver Lake has been fair at times, with a few trout being taken up to 2½ pounds. During the day the best lures are the silver flatfish No. 4 and Willow Leaf and worms. For evening fishing, the Orange Bodied Carey, Doc Spratley and Deer Hair Nymph have been good flies.

Pennask Lake has been slower but with steady fishing, limit catches are being taken. Hatheume is about the same with the Doc Spratley fly still doing well in both lakes.

Peashland Dam: The water in this lake is clearing after being very muddy due to the large input of water from Brenda. This lake is a good place to catch nice trout have been reported here. This lake has good access and is a good bet for an evening's fishing at this time.

Headwaters: Limit catches of small fish.

Brenda: Fair, with some limits reported of a better sized fish.

Raymer: Limit catches no problem, fish are small.

Pillar: Reports are good, but slow during heat of day.

Arthur and Spa: We have not heard much of these lakes the last few years, but report gives the fishing as good except during heat of day.

Sugar and Mable: Some good reports in.

Dee Chain: Fairly slow, with best reports from Doreen Lake.

Peashland: Has also been good except during heat of the day.

Lassie: Fair, with many fishermen using this lake.

Large Spring Salmon are in the Shuswap River, with three good ones reported taken from the Deer Pool below Shuswap Falls. The water level is down considerably on the river and water is clear. A fair run is expected this season.

These large fish can be taken in the Shuswap River until the end of this month only, but there is no closed season on the Thompson River and they can be taken in the Chase area during September. They can also be taken in Mabel Lake during August by trolling with large spoons or large plugs, like the M2 Yellow Flatfish or No. 5 F.S.T.

There are other good pools in the Shuswap River to fish for the big Spring Salmon from Mabel Lake to Enderby. The log dump and pools in the Hupel are noted for taking these fish.

Hunting season has started in some of the northern areas, with mountain goat, sheep and caribou being legal game at this time. Several local hunters are away in the north after these species of game.

The first hunting in this area starts on Sept. 2, with buck deer and grouse opening in GMA's 5 and 8, the Monashee out of Lumby and the Kettle River areas. Grouse and bear also open in these two areas on Sept. 2.

It doesn't feel much like the hunting season yet, but many hunters are getting ready and making plans. New bench rests for shooting in rifle range at Sportsmen's Field.

Every hunter should make sure of where his rifle is shooting prior to the season opening. Hunting licences and game tags are available now, get them early and avoid the mad rush that always occurs.

This year it is mandatory to have a firearms licence or a hunting licence to carry a firearm. The loophole that existed for some has now been closed.

Home Clubs Have Edge In Interlocking Games

TORONTO (CP) — Betting on Canadian Football League interlocking games? You might be well-advised to pop your wager on the home team.

In the 224 interlocking games played since the East-West encounters were inaugurated in 1961, only Hamilton-Cats have a winning record—16 victories, 12 losses and one tie. And those figures will change tonight when the Cats pounce in Clarke Stadium against Edmonton Eskimos.

Before the home folks, however, it's a different story.

Only Montreal Alouettes and Winnipeg Blue Bombers have a losing home record in interlocking play—the other seven clubs are ahead of their visitors.

Across the board, EFC clubs have won 116 interlocking games to 101 for the Western Conference teams. There have been seven ties and four of those belong to British Columbia Lions.

Hamilton's interlocking nemesis is Calgary. The Stampeders are ahead of the Tiger-Cats 4-2 in Calgary and 3-2 in Hamilton. The Cats, on the other hand, are ahead of tonight's opponents 4-1 in the West and 4-2 in Hamilton.

RIDERS HAVE EDGE

Saskatchewan Roughriders have played host to Montreal five times and Toronto Argonauts six times and the Roughriders have won every game. Saskatchewan is ahead of Montreal 5-1 in games played in the East, but Toronto has the edge 4-2 on their own turf.

B.C. has gone into Ottawa.

Nova Scotian Tennis Leader

MONTREAL (CP) — John Power of Nova Scotia defeated Denis Ing of Saskatchewan Thursday, 3-6, 6-4 and 6-0 in the first day of competition in the Canadian Junior Davis Cup tennis finals.

Heavy rains caused the opening rounds to be played at the Nun's Island Indoor Tennis Club rather than at the host Monkland Tennis Club.

The round-robin competition ends Sunday.

Sinden Calls Warmup Games

TORONTO (CP) — Three intra-squad games have been scheduled at Maple Leaf Gardens to help coach Harry Sinden pick his starting lineup for the opening game of the Canada-Russia series, the Team Canada coach announced Thursday.

Sinden said the three warmup games Aug. 22, 26 and 29 will give his 35 players game experience before their first meeting with the Russian national team in Montreal Sept. 2.

"By playing three pre-series games, we'll get a pretty good idea of which 19 players should play in the opening game," Sinden said. "In addition, our players, who are used to National Hockey League rules, will get an opportunity to adapt themselves to international rules and the international system of two referees."

Arrangements for the intra-squad series were made with president Harold Ballard of Maple Leaf Gardens, who said there would be a later announcement on ticket prices and distribution for the games.

Rutland Youth Receives Award

Eighteen-year-old Rutland Secondary School student, Kenneth Bartel of Kelowna, has been cited for a $500 athletic award for the 1972-73 academic year by the British Columbia Physical Fitness and Amateur Sports Fund.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bartel, RR 2 Kilarney Road, Kenneth received a letter from the fund July 26 confirming the award, which he described as a "shock."

"I didn't think I could ever receive it," he added.

Asked what he plans to do with the money, he replied he plans to attend Okanagan College this year and continue his education at the University of British Columbia, majoring in physical education and mathematics.

Kenneth is no stranger to achievement. He shared outstanding male athlete honors with fellow student Benno Fath this year, won the school's 1972 academic award and has been on 13 out of 15 honor rolls during his senior years at school.

His Rutland Senior Secondary school record includes four honor awards, five athletic citations, four service and two citizenship awards (Grade 10 junior and Grade 12 senior). He is vice-president of the student council and Class Officials' Club, president of the Leaders' Club and Grade 12 class and a member of the Future Teachers' Club.

Kenneth is active in basketball, soccer, track and rugby (the school won the 1971-72 Valley basketball championship) and for relaxation plays trombone in the Rutland concert band. He also tutors math in his spare time, when he has any.

Ontario Wins Team Title In Amateur Golf Tourney

WINNIPEG (CP) — Ontario shotmakers dominated the second round of the Canadian women's amateur golf championships Thursday, winning the 36-hole inter-provincial team title and setting the pace for individual pursuit of the Duchess of Connaught Gold Cup.

Marlene Streit, seeking her 10th Canadian amateur crown, fired a one-under-par 74 to pull into a two-stroke lead over her Ontario team-mate Gayle Borthwick of Mississauga.

Coupled with a two-over-par 77 Wednesday, the Ponthill veteran hit the half-way point in the four-day individual competition with 151. Another team-mate, Oshawa's Pam Miller, was three strokes back at 154 followed by Carol Semple of Seewickley, Pa., with 155.

Fourth-ranked U.S. Curtis Cup star Lancy Smith of Williamsport, N.Y., Ontario team member Sue Kampman of Kitchener and Gail Moore of Coquitlam, B.C., were bunched at 156.

The Ontario foursome, with their low three 18-hole scores each day counting in the team race, scored 457 on the two rounds of medal play, 18 strokes ahead of British Columbia.

Marilyn Palmer of Vancouver shot the day's best for the West Coast team, a four-over-par 79 to match her first-day score. Alberta was third at 486, followed by Saskatchewan at 494, Manitoba at 500, Quebec at 509.

Of the nine CFL teams, on a home-and-away basis, the clubs with winning records in interlocking play are Hamilton, 37-19-1; Ottawa, 34-20-2; Saskatchewan, 28-19-0; Calgary, 26-18-0; Toronto 28-27-1.

Rutland Wins Senior C Title

A three run homer by Duane Anderson in the bottom of the sixth inning gave Rutland Shell a 9-4 win over the Teachers and the Senior C Men's Softball Championship.

The Rutland squad, who reached the finals by eliminating Royal Anne, took the championship with a clean four game sweep of the best-of-seven final series. The third place Teachers had reached the finals by knocking off league pennant winners East Kelowna in a best-of-three series.

HORNING'S SINGLE DOES IT

Budgies Back In After 4-3 Win

A clutch single by Wayne Horning in the 13th inning drove in the winning run as Budget Boys defeated Rutland Rovers 4-3 in Kelowna and District Senior Men's Softball League finals Thursday.

The game went six extra innings, with the score deadlocked 3-3 at the end of the regulation seven innings, and is a record in the league and playoffs this year.

The win by the Budget Boys makes the final best of seven series 2-1 in favor of Rutland, with the third game to be played Sunday at King's Stadium.

Horning drove in Ian Angus in the top of the 13th inning for the winning run, after Angus had singled and was advanced to second on a sacrifice by Rick Favell. Horning rapped a hit into centre-field where Joe Uyejima fielded the ball but his throw to cut off Angus at the plate was wide of the mark, pulling Rover catcher off the base.

The 13-inning marathon had turned into a pitchers duel between Budgie's Gib Loseth and Rovers' Arnie Rath. Loseth was particularly impressive as he continually worked his way out of dangerous situations, especially in the tenth inning.

Don Kroschinsky strated the bottom of the tenth inning by stroking a single and moved to second when teammate Tim Reiger reached first safely on an error. Loseth was in trouble with runners on first and second and no one out, but came through under the pressure by striking out the next two batters and getting the third to fly out.

Rovers struck first in the fourth inning as Reiger was brought in by a single off the bat of Rovers' catcher Bob Boyer. Budgies came back in the top of the fifth to take a two run lead. Loseth started things by drawing a walk and being moved to second on a hit by Dennis Kranabetter. Ed Sehn then drove in two runs by rapping a double into centre-field, and then scored on a single by Angus.

Rovers fought back in their half of the inning to tie the score at 3-3, which went unchanged for the next seven innings. Two errors by the Budget Boys plus hits by Dave Kroschinsky and Boyer supplied Rutland with the two runs.

Loseth picked up the win

after coming in relief for strander Don Schmidt in the fourth inning. Loseth gave up seven hits, two walks and seven strike outs.

Rath suffered the loss for the Rovers as he relieved starter Ken Hehn. The two hurlers gave up a combined ten hits, and three walks while Rath had four strikeouts and Hehn one.

The game was no doubt the best in the series thus far, possibly the best of the year, and has put the Budget Boys right back into the thick of things. With both teams putting up 100 per cent and producing excellent ball, Sunday's fourth game shapes up to be another crowd-pleaser. Game time is 8 p.m. at King's Stadium.

Don Kroschinsky strated the bottom of the tenth inning by stroking a single and moved to second when teammate Tim Reiger reached first safely on an error. Loseth was in trouble with runners on first and second and no one out, but came through under the pressure by striking out the next two batters and getting the third to fly out.

Rovers struck first in the fourth inning as Reiger was brought in by a single off the bat of Rovers' catcher Bob Boyer. Budgies came back in the top of the fifth to take a two run lead. Loseth started things by drawing a walk and being moved to second on a hit by Dennis Kranabetter. Ed Sehn then drove in two runs by rapping a double into centre-field, and then scored on a single by Angus.

Rovers fought back in their half of the inning to tie the score at 3-3, which went unchanged for the next seven innings. Two errors by the Budget Boys plus hits by Dave Kroschinsky and Boyer supplied Rutland with the two runs.

Loseth picked up the win

after coming in relief for strander Don Schmidt in the fourth inning. Loseth gave up seven hits, two walks and seven strike outs.

Rath suffered the loss for the Rovers as he relieved starter Ken Hehn. The two hurlers gave up a combined ten hits, and three walks while Rath had four strikeouts and Hehn one.

The game was no doubt the best in the series thus far, possibly the best of the year, and has put the Budget Boys right back into the thick of things. With both teams putting up 100 per cent and producing excellent ball, Sunday's fourth game shapes up to be another crowd-pleaser. Game time is 8 p.m. at King's Stadium.

Rovers' Arnie Rath. Loseth was particularly impressive as he continually worked his way out of dangerous situations, especially in the tenth inning.

Astros Getting Closer In Race For Pennant

Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball may be a game of inches for some, but it's still a matter of feet for Harry Walker.

"We're close enough in the National League West race so that Cincinnati can hear the pitter-patter of our feet," says the Houston Astros manager.

"Close enough" is 6½ games behind the leaders—not a very horrid position at this time of the season, but certainly not ideal.

"Anything can happen," Walker said after his Astros defeated Atlanta Braves 9-4 while the Reds were losing to Los Angeles Dodgers 6-2.

The Dodgers also chopped a game off their third-place position in the West. They now stand 10 games behind Cincinnati.

"I'm not giving up on this race," said the Dodger manager Walt Alston. "After all we were farther back at this time last year."

The Dodgers last season closed with a rush and wound up losing the West pennant by one game to San Francisco Giants.

EXPOS BLANKED

In the only other game Thursday, Chicago Cubs ripped Montreal Expos 8-0.

Tommy Helms, who played for Cincinnati last year, provided a big hit in Houston's victory Thursday night. His two-run triple capped a three-run rally in the seventh inning that broke out a 6-6 tie.

The Astros scored five runs in the third inning, then lost a 3-3 lead in the fifth when Mike Lum hit a three-run homer for Atlanta to set the stage for Helms hit past a diving Dusty Baker in centre field.

The Dodgers used Willie Crawford's big night to beat Cincinnati. He had four hits and knocked in four runs.

Crawford was riding the bench with a .216 average and had only one hit in his last 19 appearances before Thursday night.

OSTEEN NEEDS HELP

Claude Osteen, with eighth-inning relief help from Jim Brewer, won his 13th game. He became only the third left-hander to defeat the Reds this year.

Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson thought it was the Reds who beat themselves—not Osteen.

"Osteen is a smart pitcher," said Anderson, "but I really didn't think he beat us tonight."

"We're still not hitting and we're not getting a whole lot of production now out of our long ball men."

Billy Williams drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single in a five-run fifth inning as Chicago defeated Montreal. Williams career RBIs now stand at 1,154 to move him into second place behind Ernie Banks on the all-time Cub list.

Pennant Race Tightens Crucial Series Tonight

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After a long night's journey to Oakland, Chicago White Sox and Oakland Athletics settled nothing in the American League West Division race.

The battle for first place that began Thursday night in Oakland was suspended early today 3-3 after 17 innings.

The game will resume tonight and be followed by the second game of the crucial series.

Elsewhere, Detroit Tigers regained one-half game ahead of Baltimore in the AL East despite a 1-0 loss to New York.

The third-place Yankees are only two back—when the Orioles suffered a similar 1-0 setback at the hands of Milwaukee Brewers.

California Angels downed Minnesota Twins 3-1 in the only other contest.

The Athletics, with a one-run lead over Chicago, twice broke from behind in the five-out baseball battle with no end.

OUT SOX 'AHEAD

Pat Kelly put the Sox ahead 2-1 in the top of the 13th, leading off with a triple and scoring after on Bob Locker's wild pitch.

But Angel Mangual hit a one-out double in the bottom of the 13th for the Athletics and scored on pinch hitter Gene Teague's two-out single off Steve Sealey.

Both teams all but depleted their supply of pitchers in the first 17 innings of the game, with Oakland using eight and Chicago six.

SCATTERS 10 HITS

Rookie Gary Ryerson scattered 10 hits and George Scott singled home a sixth-inning run as Milwaukee nipped Baltimore and ended the Orioles' four-game winning streak.

Bob Helms opened the Milwaukee sixth with his third hit of the game and hustled it into a double, the Brewers' first extra-base hit in 40 innings. He scored on Scott's single.

It was a bitter defeat for the Orioles, who could have moved into first place with a victory.

California's Rudy May tied the club record by striking out 16 Minnesota batters and the Angels snapped a 1-1 tie on successive second-inning homers by Andy Kosco and Ken McMullen of Ray Corbin to beat the Twins.

Rick Renick homered for Minnesota.

May struck out the side in the first inning and fanned at least one man in every inning. He got Minnesota clean-up hitter Bobby Darwin four times.

Overweight Chuvalo Stops Burns In First

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo entered the ring at 10 pounds over his regular fighting weight and stopped challenger Tommy Burns with a technical knockout at 2:36 of the first round of a non-title fight Thursday night.

About 2,500 boxing buffs paid more than $20,000 to watch the bout which was scheduled to go 12 rounds.

The 34-year-old champion battered the unranked local boy with a combination of hooks to the body and head. Burns was knocked down three times before referee Dave Brown of Vancouver ended it.

Burns also lost to the chunky Toronto fighter at Hamilton in 1970, at 2:06 of the sixth round.

After the fight, Burns, 38, said he is quitting boxing but will promote the sport in this city.

The 226-pound champ was guaranteed $10,000 and Burns picked up $2,000 for their two-minute effort.

Burns, who weighed in at 220½ pounds, said Brown shouldn't have ended the fight because he wasn't hurt.

"If he wasn't hurt, he had a hell of a good act," said Chuvalo.

Parnell Leads 'Bellies To Win

THE CANADIAN PRESS

New Westminster Salmonbellies edged Windsor Warlocks 3-1 and Peterborough Lakers downed Toronto Shooting Stars 4-10 in National Lacrosse League action Thursday night.

Paul Parnell had three goals and two assists and Wayne Rossa two goals and three assists to lead the Salmonbellies' attack.

Dave Matheson scored two and Mickey Lynch, Steve Eastum, Fred Greenwood, Mac Tyler, Tracy Wright and Jay Bennie scored one each for New Westminster.

Bill Bradley scored four and Jim Higgs three for Warlocks. Tom Vann scored two and Larry Lloyd and Charles Marzette scored one each.

Lakers led the Shooting Stars 4-1 at the end of first period play in Peterborough and held a 6-4 lead at the end of the second.

Cy Coombes scored four for makers and Jim Grady and Andy Lynch scored two each. Single goals were scored by an Magee, Larry Ferguson, Jim Johnston, Grant Heffernan, Jim Wasson, Reg Marchen and Terry Davis.

Vancouver Youth Leads Canadian Amateur Golf

CALGARY (CP) — A golfer just out of his teens took over the Canadian amateur championship Thursday but he had two experienced men pressing from one stroke back.

Doug Roxburgh, 20, of Vancouver wheeled into the lead by shooting a six-under-par 65 to knock one stroke off the competitive record at Earl Grey Golf Club.

His total of 138—he had a 72 in the opening round—was four under par and 14 under the cut which dropped the field to 73 from 153.

Bob Wylie of Calgary, who played in the amateur 11 times, was tied with Mickey Batten of Maple Grove, Que., at 139.

Wylie, who had not teed off when Roxburgh broke the record set in 1969 by Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver during the Alberta Open, came in with 67 and Batten had 68.

Roxburgh went under par on eight holes and said his putting was better than the previous year—he took 29 compared with 36.

THREE STROKES BACK

Three strokes back of the leader were Kelly Roberts of London, Ont., Gill Morgan of Wewoka, Okla., and Keith Alexander of Calgary.

Alexander, Roberts and defending champion Dick Siderow of Easton, Conn., had been tied for second after the opening at 69, one stroke back of Pierre Lessard of East Angu, Que.

Siderow was 142 after two rounds and Lessard was at 143.

Wylie, five times on Canadian international amateur teams, credited improved putting and a hot-pitching wedge for his improvement. He hit five of his six birdies from less than five feet, pitching or clipping within range.

He found the greens easy and said many of the competitors have been convincing themselves they are tough.

"I think the grain is pretty straight forward; it's either shiny or dark."

Batten, 29, lamented: "I still can't read these greens."

He played on the Quebec Willingdon Cup team for the first time this year and he has been in the Canadian amateur several times.

Six Skaters Named To Team

OTTAWA (CP) — A team of six skaters has been named to represent Canada in St. Gervais, France, later this month in the first of three international junior competitions.

The Canadian Figure Skating Association announced today that Kim Wylie 15, of Galt, Ont., and Barbara Terpenning, 15, of Vancouver will compete in the women's singles; Lee Armstrong, 16, of Chatham, Ont., and Patric McKilligan, 19, of Vancouver will compete in the men's singles; and Allen Carson, 21, and Linda Tasker, 19, both of Streetsville, Ont., will compete in the pairs.

"The Canadian team has always done extremely well at St. Gervais and we expect to do so again," Hugh Glynn of Ottawa, executive manager of the association, said in a news release.

He has been appointed team manager.

Heather Bowers, spokesman for the association, said in an interview these junior international competitions are for those who have never placed in senior world competitions and are considered major events to give promising juniors international competition experience.

The St. Gervais competition will be held Aug. 22 to 27.

Miss Bowers said teams also will be set to the smaller competitions at Prague and Twickenham, England, this fall.

Margaret Berowski of Calgary, a former national women's champion, has been named the Canadian judge at St. Gervais.

Ottawa's Balanced Attack Puts Them In First Place

MONTREAL (CP) — Ottawa

Rough Riders rode to the top of the Eastern Football Conference standings Thursday night on the strength of a balanced attack and an ability to make the most of Montreal Alouettes' miscues.

Alouettes provided the opportunities and Gerry Organ's toe the finishing touches as Ottawa stormed to a 25-0 first-half lead and then hung on to beat Als 28-19.

Sonny Wade, starting Montreal quarterback, dismayed 16,649 fans at McGill Stadium with a display of football philanthropy which saw him dump five passes into the hands of Ottawa defenders and cough up two fumbles to Rough Riders.

The tone of what Montreal coach Sam Etcheverry called an "unbelievable" first half was set early when Jim Elder atoned for fumbling the opening kickoff by picking off Wade's first pass and running it 58 yards to the Montreal 33-yard line. Three plays later, Organ kicked the first of his four field goals, a 36-yard effort, and Ottawa jumped into a lead they never lost.

Wade's second pass of the game, two plays later, was intercepted by Dick Adams who ran the ball to the Als' 35.

Quarterback Rick Cassata worked the ball to the Montreal one-yard line in four plays before diving over the line for the touchdown. Organ's convert gave Ottawa a 10-0 lead.

MERRY ORGAN TUNE

The young placement kicker added a 17-yard field goal four minutes later and Wade's fumble on the next play set him up for another three-point kick, this time from the 32, and the Riders moved in front 16-0.

Wade's fumble late in the first quarter on his own 39 set up Bob Howard's two-yard touchdown plunge.

Organ, early in the second quarter and 38-and 27-yard singles by Adams and Organ respectively gave Ottawa its 25-point half-time lead.

Moses Denson's five-yard touchdown run, converted by Don Sweet, and Dickie Harris' spectacular 118-yard ramble for six points after intercepting a Paul Brothers pass drew Montreal closer in the third quarter, but Organ's 27-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter put the game out of reach.

Montreal closed the gap when running back Ike Brown took a 23-yard pass from George Mira, substituting for Wade, for a touchdown. Sweet missed converts after the Harris and Brown TDs.

Statistically, Ottawa had the edge in all departments but punting where Wade recorded an average of 38.8 yards on eight kicks while Adams booted nine times for a 38.1-yard average.

Ottawa had a total net offence of 200 yards, 172 in the air, while Montreal gained 203 yards, 170 on passing.

Rough Riders lead the EFC with two wins and no losses, two points ahead of Montreal and Hamilton Tiger-Cats and four points up on Toronto Argonauts.

Vancouver Harbor Seems Prepared For 'Invasion'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver harbor again has taken on the appearance of a debarcation point for an invasion fleet as it staggers into the fifth day of its latest crisis.

Already jolted this year by a massive cargo tie-up due to winter storms, and the threat that Seattle is going to steal the lucrative container market, Vancouver now is in the throes of a labor dispute.

It was bad enough that Vancouver, along with other British Columbia ports, was bogging through routine contract negotiations.

But Vancouver's 1,800 dockers—all members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union—sparked an unofficial strike and lockout situation at the weekend in a dispute over hiring practices.

The 600 men employed at long-term jobs on the docks "resigned" Saturday and the companies refused to replace them with "untrained" men taken from the union hiring hall. The companies yelled "strike," the union hollered "lockout."

The situation should become formalized late today with announcement of the results of an official coast-wide strike vote. Although both parties are committed to going back to a federal conciliation board before any official action is taken, that doesn't do anything for the unofficial halt.

At issue is the desire of the 45 member companies of the B.C. Maritime Association to build up a trained work force to operate complicated dock machinery. A trend to the development of such a force has been evident in recent years with 610 men now employed as "regulars."

WANT JOBS SPREAD

The union, which sends work crews out on a daily basis from the union hiring hall, is afraid this trend to specialization eventually will shut out untrained workers. They want the cushy jobs spread around. They deny, as the companies charge, that their main aim is to keep the hiring hall practice going in order to maintain tight control of the membership.

As the battle lines harden, scenic English Bay—normally a permanent home only to sailboats and fishermen—has begun to clog up with rows of freighters.

Port officials said Thursday that 27 deep-sea vessels were waiting to load or unload cargo piled up at wharveside by the dispute.

Of particular concern was the effect on the grain trade, an effect spotlighted by the fact that 14 of the ships riding at anchor were grain carriers.

Canadian wheat officials and farmers were jumping up and down in frustration last winter when grain exports were all but halted by winter storms and snowslides that plugged rail routes from the Prairies.

Now, with that backlog cleared up, the export lanes are blocked again.

"I'm afraid that if the dispute isn't settled soon then we will have another crisis similar to the one in January and February on our hands," one local grain official said.

Currently scheduled grain shipments out of Vancouver call for one of the heaviest movements ever, especially to China and Japan.

In Ottawa, federal grain officials said a prolonged strike at Vancouver would hurt much more than the recent two-month tie-up of St. Lawrence River ports. There, other ports such as Halifax were used to relieve the pressure.

FEW ALTERNATIVES

On the West Coast, however, there are few alternative facilities for grain shipments, although some is shipped through Prince Rupert.

Aside from the grain issue, port officials fear the latest crisis will result in more shippers deciding to use the port of Seattle, using trucks to transport the goods across the Canada-U.S. border. Seattle already has set aside dock facilities for Canadian cargo during the current disruption.

It also raises the possibility of shippers putting a surcharge on shipments moving through Vancouver because of the increased costs brought about by lengthy delays.

As in any dock tie-up, allied industries also would be affected with layoffs among truckers and other workers in-involved in handling imports and exports.

Meantime, there appeared little likelihood of immediate federal intervention in the dispute.

Prime Minister Trudeau, winding up a holiday on the B.C. coast Thursday, said in an interview that when people have been given the right to strike under the law, it shouldn't be taken away from them the moment they use it.

However, he said, he would discuss the situation with Labor Minister Martin O'Connell in Ottawa.

Emergency Airlift Commences To Hungry N. Scottish Isles

LONDON (Reuter) — The RAF began today an emergency airlift of essential supplies to the Orkney and Shetland islands off northern Scotland, isolated by the two-week national dock strike.

About 180 tons of goods, including flour, sugar, cooking fats, livestock food and medical supplies, are being flown out from Scotland, representing about one week's emergency supply.

Government sources said the airlift was a "humanitarian use of the Royal Air Force" and did not mean that emergency powers proclaimed last week because of the strike were being implemented.

For several days private aircraft have been ferrying small amounts of essential materials to the islands.

A statement from the government's Scottish office said the military airlift was necessary "to prevent hardship to the islanders as it is clear that even with non-stop work by air firms it would not be possible to transport sufficient supplies."

Plans also were being discussed for moving supplies to the Hebrides islands off Scotland's west coast.

A peace-seeking committee representing port unions and employers was meeting today to consider whether plans it has made for safeguarding longshoremen's jobs are well enough advanced to present to the strikers.

The 42,000 dock workers are striking for better job guarantees in the face of modernization of cargo-handling techniques.

The committee has been discussing the issue with employers at container and cold storage terminals and its statements have raised hopes of a dock union delegates' conference being called next week.

Meanwhile, all was quiet at a private wharf near Southhorpe, central England, where for three days striking dockers had been involved in savage clashes with police.

The fighting involved dockers from nearby strikebound ports picketing the non-union workers who are continuing to handle cargo at the Southhorpe wharf.

Gambino Loses 2 Of Family

NEW YORK (AP) — Two nephews of a reputed soldier in the Carlo Gambino Cosa Nostra family were found slain in gangland style in the Bronx Thursday, possibly victims in a mounting war between black and white mobsters over the lucrative narcotics trade, police reported.

Police said mob whites were locked in a struggle to regain control of dope rackets from blacks, who are reported to have made heavy inroads into that multi-million dollar area.

A black suspected of involvement in narcotics was found shot to death in the back of the head Tuesday in Brooklyn.

The latest victims, both white, were identified by police as Philip J. (Little Philip) Manfredi, 24, and Philip D. (Big Philip) Manfredi, 22.

They were said to be nephews of Joseph (Jojo) Manfredi, described in published reports as a Gambino soldier or "buttonman," whose underworld assignments could range from murder on down.

If you've decided against electric heat because you were told its operating costs are too high, then chances are you haven't looked into Intertherm's electro-hydraulic...

HOT WATER HEAT WITHOUT PLUMBING

The accusation of high operating costs is a burden electric heat has had to bear. But with Intertherm's hot water electric heat, we have managed a solution to this problem. Our heating system follows less the principle of ordinary electric resistance heat, then it does the principle of economical hot water heat.

With almost a half million Intertherm installations under our belt it is simply amazing to us the number of people who write us telling how pleasantly surprised they were of the low operating costs.

And not only is Intertherm economical, it's also the most comfortable kind of heat you can provide for your own family. That's because it eliminates cold floors and cold drafts. And there is none of that "on-again, off-again" type of heat. Just smooth, even, comfortable heat.

It's also a beautiful heat, now being recommended by allergists all over the nation and in Canada, for patients susceptible to combustion gases and "fired dust," caused by the hot heating surfaces of ordinary heating plants.

And finally, it is so absolutely safe, a child can adjust the thermostat and gauge into the baseboards without the slightest danger.

I can only tell you with the utmost sincerity, that before you do anything else, before you go through another discomforting winter, look into Intertherm. Plug in models also available for heating individual rooms. Write in for literature. We won't have a salesman at your door the next day. Just examine what we have to say, and make your own decision.

But do write to us today.

CBC And CTV Agree To Share Russian-Canadian Hockey Games

An agreement has been reached between CBC and CTV for the sharing of television coverage of the historic eight-game Canada-Soviet Union hockey series in September.

In a joint announcement, CTV and CBC's English network said the agreement provides for live color coverage of all of the games in the series, four of which will be played in Canada and four in Moscow. The networks will alternate coverage of the games, with CTV telecasting the series opener on Sept. 2, and the CBC picking up the final game of the series on Sept. 28 in Moscow. The agreement further calls for the pooling of facilities and production resources.

Foster Hewitt, the Canadian voice of hockey since the first game was broadcast in 1923, will do the play-by-play commentary on all telecasts. The analyst and color man will be Brian Conacher, who is both an ex-NHL player and ex-Canadian national team player with several years of international experience against the Russians.

CBC host on all telecasts will be Bill Good Jr. of Vancouver while CTV host duties will be shared by Johnny Esaw (in Canada) and Pat Marsden (in Russia).

Tony Curtis Wins Round

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Tony Curtis has won temporary custody of two daughters, Alexandra, 8, and Allegra, 6, from their mother, German actress Christine Kauffman.

Curtis said in a complaint that the children were shuttled back and forth from country to country and were left with an assortment of governesses while in their mother's custody.

Judge Edward Brand on Wednesday set a custody hearing for Oct. 9 and issued a restraining order preventing Miss Kauffman from taking the children out of the country.

Alexandra and Allegra are staying with Curtis and his third wife, Leslie, in their Bel Air home.

Curtis was married to Miss Kauffman from 1963 to 1968. Earlier, he was married to actress Janet Leigh.

Cariboo's Story Told

The great gold rush of the Klondike is a well-known story around the world. Not so well-known is the story of another gold rush in Canada that took place in the Cariboo region. The gold finds there were second only to the Klondike and in the early 1860s adventurers from around the world poured in.

The story of the Cariboo strike is told in a dramatic documentary entitled The Gold Seekers, produced by CBC Vancouver as part of the British Columbia Centennial celebrations and shown on the CBC television network last fall. It will be repeated Sunday at 9:00 p.m.

The program follows the stories of some of those early gold-seekers through six diaries left behind by men who sought their fortunes in the Cariboo.

They came from all walks of life — bank clerks from London, shoe salesmen from New York and the disinherited sons of nobility. Re-tracing their steps, the film crew followed the long hard trail into the interior that the gold seekers trod.

No Heart Attack But Smoke Screen

ROME (AP) — Luchino Visconti, noted Italian director of The Leopard and The Damned, was reported somewhat improved here after collapsing at a dinner.

It was feared at first that the 65-year-old director had suffered a heart attack but doctors said later that the chain-smoking Visconti was overcome by severe nicotine poisoning.

Dr. Ignazio Scimone, physician of the husky, grey-haired director, said "his condition is not a cause for grave alarm. He has been smoking too much lately."

The doctor said Visconti would have to have complete rest in his clinic room "without even the faintest smell of cigarette smoke."

Visconti, who turned producer last year with Death in Venice, collapsed at a hotel roof garden. He fell, unconscious, striking his head on a potted plant. He was taken to a private clinic in an ambulance.

Cable Policy Starts Sept. 1

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Radio-Television Commission's policy on program deletions by cable television systems will come into effect Sept. 1, it was announced Tuesday.

The policy, adopted by the commission a year ago, is designed to protect Canadian stations who have been losing advertising revenue to American stations because of program duplication by U.S. stations carried on cable systems.

Under the policy, when an identical program is carried by a competing U.S. station at the same time as a Canadian station, the Canadian station may require the cable company to delete its transmission.

Any Canadian station taking advantage of the policy must inform the cable company of its intention to do so within seven days of the broadcast time of programs involved.

The commission said it expects all cable companies to be ready for the policy when it comes into effect.

Hollywood Screen Actors Guild Blasts Heavy Use Of Re-Runs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With unemployment lines in Hollywood lengthening, the Screen Actors Guild places heavy blame on TV networks for using unlimited numbers of reruns rather than making new shows.

The Guild, which has launched a campaign called STOP, or Save Television Original Programming, said Thursday it has won the support of George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO in its battle against reruns.

Guild president John Gavin said he met Meany in Washington concerning the Guild's efforts to convince the Federal Communications Commission to limit reruns. Gavin said Meany has agreed to support the Guild when it approaches the AFL-CIO executive council for backing later this month.

Gavin said 50,000 signatures have been gathered on a petition to be submitted to the FCC by Aug. 25. It asks that reruns on the networks in prime time be limited to 25 per cent of that time.

Actors whose shows are rerun, he noted, receive small residual payments which are only a fraction of what they could earn on new shows.

Last March, Gavin said, the Guild found that 28 per cent of prime time was occupied by reruns. By April, he said, that figure had soared to 72 per cent.

Deborah Kerr Back To Stage

LONDON (AP) — Deborah Kerr, Scots-born star of many Hollywood movies, is returning to the London stage after an absence of 17 years, it was announced Wednesday.

Miss Kerr, 50, will open at the Lyric Theatre on Oct. 4 in a new play by Frank Harvey called The Day After the Fair.

Red Lights Out Says Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay on Tuesday rejected—at least for now—a proposal by some Broadway performers that the city establish a legalized red-light district.

"That is a drastic suggestion and at some point it may deserve serious study," he said.

The performers had suggested that establishment of legal brothels might get prostitutes off the streets in the Times Square area.

The mayor said finding a section of the city to house the red light district was "perhaps insoluble."

Aussies Ban Skyjacked

CANBERRA (AP) — The United States film Skyjacked has been banned from Australia by Customs Minister Donald Chipp.

He said representations had been made to the Australian government by major Australian airlines and the Australian Federation of Air Pilots asking for Skyjacked to be restricted or prohibited.

The experience of airlines and civil aviation authorities had shown the techniques employed in films about hijacking were reproduced in real life a short time later, Chipp said.

CRTV Approves Several Sales

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Radio-Television Commission has approved sale of a series of British Columbia radio stations and cable television systems.

These include radio stations at Fernie, Cranbrook, Duncan, Trail and Port Alberni and cable systems at Merritt and Salt Spring Island.

E. K. Radio Ltd. has obtained permission to buy the assets of radio stations CKEK Cranbrook and CFEK Fernie from East Kootenay Broadcasting Co. Ltd.

East Kootenay Broadcasting has been allowed to acquire all the shares in Kootenay Broadcasting Co. Ltd. which owns radio station CJAT Trail.

Permission has been granted to Radio CKAY Ltd., owner of radio station CKAY Duncan, to sell all its shares to Ernest Mykyte.

M. E. Inwards and W. H. Gibson have permission to buy all the shares in CJAV Ltd., owners of radio station CJAV Port Alberni. Mr. Inwards and Mr. Gibson will each own half the shares.

B and L Enterprises Ltd. has obtained approval of a bid to buy a controlling interest in Merritt Cablevision Ltd., which owns a Merritt cable system. Minority shareholders will be G. Roderick Hallquist, Gerald H. Hallquist and Bruce C. Hallquist.

A Love Story That Failed

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (Reuter) — Actress Ali MacGraw, the 32-year-old star of motion picture Love Story, filed suit here for divorce from Robert Evans, 40, a film executive connected with Paramount Studios in Hollywood.

The two were married in 1969, and separated recently. They have one child, Joshua, who is 19 months old.

Grounds for the divorce were said to be irreconcilable differences.

Cavett Show Gets Breather

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co. breathed a half-life into the Dick Cavett Show recently with an announcement that his late-night television talks program would continue only one week a month during 1973.

Jack Parr, the successor to Steve Allen's nocturnal gab format, will appear on his own show the second week each month. He quit NBC's Tonight Show in 1962, ending five years in the late-hour slot.

The network will present dramatic, comedy and musical-variety programs the remaining two weeks, said Martin Starger, president of ABC entertainment.

Starger had put the Cavett show on notice at a meeting with the network affiliates last April 28, when he said that the five-night-a-week program would be dropped if its ratings did not improve.

That month, Cavett's Nielsen rating was 3.0, compared with Tonight Show inheritor Johnny Carson's 7.9. The CBS movie, begun in mid-February to replace Merv Griffin, posted 7.3.

But by the second two weeks of July, Cavett's Emmy-winning show recorded only slight improvement, to 3.5. The movie then was 7.1 while Carson, who moved his show to Los Angeles in May, climbed to 8.6.

Insurance Firm Will Now Pay Up

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Bankers Security Life Insurance Society has agreed to pay the former wife of the late actor Jeffrey Hunter and their four sons $570,000 under an insurance policy.

The insurance company had tried to cancel the policy, claiming Hunter had defrauded the company by not disclosing a heart ailment he had since childhood. But following a non-jury trial, the company agreed Thursday to pay off the double-indemnity policy before a decision was handed down by Superior Court Judge John Loomis.

Hunter died at 41 in 1969 as the result of a skull fracture suffered in a fall at his Van Nuys home. The original policy, for $240,000, paid double with interest and costs because Hunter died accidentally.

Tim And Vicki Friends Again

HADDON FIELD, N.J. (Reuter)—Singer Tiny Tim and his wife, Miss Vicki, who separated last February, have patched up their differences, Miss Vicki's mother says.

Betty Buddinger said Tuesday the falsetto-voiced Tiny Tim and Miss Vicki, formerly Victoria Buddinger of Haddonfield, ended a three-month separation in May.

Tiny Tim, whose real name is Herbert Khoury, dropped his separation suit, and Miss Vicki discontinued her divorce proceedings.

The breakup occurred when Tiny Tim was reported to have objected to his wife's desire to embark on a modelling career. He also was said to have been unhappy about some revealing photographs of his wife that he found in their apartment.

Tiny Tim, 48, and Miss Vicki, 20, were married in December, 1969. They have a daughter, Tulip, 15 months old.

Actor Busted On Pot Charge

LOS ANGELES (Reuter) — Actor John Drew Barrymore Jr., 39, son of the late actor John Barrymore, was fined $100 in municipal court Tuesday for possession of marijuana.

Barrymore was arrested March 10 when police, responding to a silent burglar alarm at a Hollywood studio, found Barrymore and another man seated at a desk with marijuana on the desk. Both men were in the studio with permission.

How About Box Of Frogs?

UNITED NATIONS (Reuter) — Missions to the United Nations have been picketed, splashed with paint, bombed and fired upon. But Syria reported a new development Tuesday: An anonymous visitor left a box of frogs.

"Police have been duly notified and they were kind enough to proceed to some investigation without, however, any arrest," Syrian Ambassador George Tomeh said in a letter of complaint to U.S. Ambassador George Bush.

BILL GRAHAM'S VIEW

Mick 'Just The Greatest Alive'

NEW YORK (AP) — Just who is this guy Mick Jagger?

Well, he's an Englishman who sings and has been called almost every bad name and every good one there is.

Says Bill Graham, the promoter and innovative stepfather of rock: "Mick's the greatest performer alive today."

Say: Jagger's mother, in her house in London's middle-class suburb, Dartford, Kent: "It infuriates me to know some people regard him as a moron. He's a very intelligent sensitive boy. Sometimes I wish he were just an ordinary boy again. The fame isn't worth the worry."

At 29, Michael Phillip Jagger is the most famous member of the most famous rock 'n' roll band in the world—The Rolling Stones.

GROSS $3 MILLION

Jagger and the other four Stones recently completed an eight-week tour of North America that attracted more than 750,000 people and will give them a gross profit of nearly $3 million.

Jagger grew up in suburban London, son of a physical education lecturer at a teachers' training college. "Mike" to his Australian-born mother, he was a cherub-faced soprano in the local choir, a run-of-the-mill grammar school kid—maybe a bit more of the devil than his mates.

Underneath brewed a generation's rebellion. Parents were one target.

"I owe my parents nothing," Jagger once said in an interview. "They're my parents and that's that. I like them and still do but there are no dues to be paid by me to them. I was never part of home life. I knew I'd break away when I did."

ATTACKS SYSTEM

The "system" was another target, and Jagger still speaks bitterly in four-letter words and sexual imagery about England and governments and people with small dreams. Yet, he can be a very articulate and perceptive man, delivering candid views on Britain's policy toward South Africa and Ireland and American politics.

One day in the 1960s, Jagger quit the London School of Economics to follow another muse, rock music.

Jagger and his childhood friend, guitarist Keith Richards, set out to form the Stones. It was a tough grind. Rock is extremely hard work. Then 1963 and a song called Come On.

The Stones became what is known as a "dynamite" band and Jagger was the powder.

He and the Stones came on hard and tough. The door to Buckingham Palace opened for Beatles Paul, John, Ringo and George. For the Stones, they doubled the guard.

BECOMES SHOWMAN

Jagger became the snarling, strutting, snaking showman; the money flowed and the gaudy headlines followed.

First it was dope: In 1967 Jagger drew three months for possession of pep pills. The sentence later was quashed.

Then it was a stormy romance: Singer Marianne Faithfull divorced her art dealer husband on grounds of adultery with the pop star. In 1968, Jagger told the world that he and Miss Faithfull were expecting a child and had no intention of getting married. The child was lost by miscarriage.

Then more dope: a $480 fine for possession of marijuana.

His liaison with Miss Faithfull ended in Australia, where he starred in the second of his two films, Ned Kelly.

Jagger has since married Bianca Perez Morena de Macias, 26, the daughter of a Nicaraguan diplomat. They settled in the south of France. There is a daughter, Jade.

Some rock critics say Jagger has matured. Others argue he is afraid to probe deep, realizing the beast he plays to could suddenly turn on him.

NDP Candidate Blasts Pollution Controls

RUTLAND (Staff) — Fines under pollution control legislation are "merely licences to pollute," about 35 people were told Thursday night at a New Democratic Party campaign meeting in Rutland Centennial Hall.

Frank Snowsall, NDP candidate in the Aug. 30 provincial election, referred to the Canadian Pacific Railway being fined $200 on a pollution charge at Coquitlam.

He said the NDP "will put in a pollution act with teeth in it, administered by trained personnel."

Mr. Snowsall accused Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who is MLA for this riding and finance minister, of passing debts to school boards, crown corporations and municipalities so he can say B.C. is debt-free. Actually, it was claimed, B.C. owes $2.5 billion, more than any other province.

The candidate also blasted policies of not getting royalties on minerals shipped out of B.C., decreasing corporation taxes while increasing personal income taxes, and giving companies money to build new plants and close down others.

"We Canadians are very busy stoking the furnaces of Japan and getting nothing for it," he said, pointing out Kaiser pays no royalties for coal exported to that country, and it is being shipped out through the United States.

By next year the total B.C. corporation taxes will have dropped $11 million since 1970, while personal income taxes will have climbed $110 million, he charged.

FEDERAL PROGRAM

Under a federal program to develop certain areas, money was given to Hiram Walker and Sons to build a distillery at Winfield, and to Crown Zellerbach to build a factory in the Kelowna industrial park. Mr. Snowsall claimed a distillery "is one of the most automated places," and Crown Zellerbach closed down small mills when the new factory was built.

He said the NDP would continue financial assistance, but with loans or shares instead of outright gifts. Money would also be made available to small businesses and farms.

He said the NDP will retain homeowner grants, and will make them available to people in mobile homes and apartments.

Children are suffering in the battle between the government and teachers, continued the retired teacher who once taught here. More teachers are needed in B.C. The NDP will remove education from services financed by land taxes, and support it entirely from taxes against people. They will allow the opposition to elect the chairman of the finance committee.

The Columbia River power treaty with the U.S. should be renegotiated to give more benefits to B.C. he suggested.

Congratulating the Lions Club of Rutland for developing a park at Park and Gray roads, the speaker claimed it was a dream when he taught here that someday that area would be a park.

MEETING HELD

WESTBANK (Special) — The Westbank Community Hall and Recreation Association held their August meeting on Monday. Only five people showed up as many were away on holiday. A discussion took place on refinishing the hall floor, also it was decided to have a Labor Day Dance and a Harvest Dance. One in September and the other in October. Further arrangements and dates will be decided at another meeting when more members are present.

Peachland Council Decides To Keep Lakeshore Public

PEACHLAND (Special) — The Peachland Municipal Council will endeavor to preserve every foot of lakeshore property for recreational use. This was the policy set down at Wednesday's municipal council meeting when discussion was held on the CPR and CNR lake leases.

Mr. Hoover from the provincial Lands Branch sat in on this meeting as did Robert Downie, owner of the Kingfisher Marina, who holds a sub lease with the CNR. A group of developers who own the old packing house on the lake front which also holds a sub lease with CNR, were also present.

Dealing with CPR lease first, council instructed the municipal clerk to apply for the lease when it is terminated. They told Mr. Hoover they would demand no clean up work by the CPR.

The CNR lease was more complicated as council wished to know if CN intends to remove from this land the rails, two sheds and winch equipment. The council decided to ask for a meeting with CN officials.

Mr. Downie asked that he be invited to his meeting as he would like his sub lease transferred to his name, also he feels he could use some of the CN facilities if they did not wish to go to the expense of removing them.

Ald. Des Loan stated he would object to any lakeshore lease being let out of municipal hands though council has assured Mr. Downie that they would if awarded this lease, protect his sub lease.

During this discussion Mr. Hoover pointed out that upland owners have a right, but Mayor Thwaites questioned this, stating in all his dealing in regional district the swing now is to public access to all waterfront.

As the protector of public interest in the community, the municipal council should be the one to hold these leases. Ald. Jim MacKay representative on the Peachland Parks and Recreation Commission spoke of past submissions by this group, pointing out mistakes in the past and the need in all communities for more and more recreational land and parks.

GAS MASKS

Gas masks were worn by two residents near Reid's Corner who took part in a Thursday afternoon demonstration at the Calona Wines dumping grounds.

Horse Show On Sunday

Preparations for the 2nd Annual Horse Show of the Peachland Riding Club is well under way. The big day is Aug. 20 at the Peachland Riding Club grounds. There were 70 contestants taking part in the horse show last year, so this year they hope for over a 100.

There are 24 events in the program ranging from the English classes, and Western classes to the peach race. Judge for the English classes is Otto Samiel and the Western Class judge is Brian Postill.

Two rings will be going at the same time one with English and the other with Western events. The first of these starting at 8 a.m. sharp.

Madeline MacKinnon, the show manager, has everything under control with her committee members doing their part.

Bill Mannering is busy getting the ring into shape and improving the grounds.

The show secretary, Minajean Smith is receiving entry forms daily. The closing date is August 12th.

Trophies are available for the winners in all events. The Clements trophy is up for grabs and $10.00 cash for the top scorer in the ladies section.

A cowboy breakfast from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. will be served for the early risers and anyone staying on the grounds over night. The Bar-B-Q supper will be served after the day's events by the riding club.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

Banff Theatre Group Lives Up To Excellence

By BETHEL STEELE

Just home from Banff. When the call came for me to go over for the opening of the Banff Festival Ballet last Sunday night I had second thoughts about breaking my holiday lethargy. I am thankful I did for the trip was rewarding in many ways. Most important from the standpoint of publicity and public relations is the fact the Festival Ballet which will play here for Rotary next Tuesday evening is well worth attending, outstandingly so.

Each year, latterly, I say the company is the best to date and the staging better than ever. Outside a few lapses in decor due to a lack of body in "couleur" the present production should be as satisfying to the eye as it is from the standpoint of the aesthetics of the dance.

When we remember that most of the dancers in the present company are very young . . . one lad is only 14 . . . and still students, their projection is remarkable for its enthusiasm coupled with a lovely sensitivity and awareness of the sometimes obscure meaning of the works they perform.

Except for one ballet . . . the Innamorata Variations and a Sleeping Beauty Pas de Trois, the choreography is all Canadian . . . Spring Fantasy . . . you will all love it, is very beautiful, and is by Ottawa born David Moroni. David is head of the scholarship department of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet School.

The 10 minute Pas de Deux from Butterflies Can't Live Here Anymore, choreography by British Columbia's own Norbert Vesak well known to balletomanes here for his now defunct Western Contemporary Dance Theatre, is only part of the full length ballet to be performed early in September in Winnipeg by the Royal Winnipeg. Music is by Bartok not Williams as stated in publicity. The Pas de Deux is quite beautiful in the adage for which Mr. Vesak creates so well.

Contrasting wisps of dance magic are the Florestan Pas de Trois from the classical The Sleeping Beauty fairy tale Russian ballet with music by Tchaikovsky and the Petrus choreography and the more modern approach to the classical idiom as represented by David Moroni's Pas de Deux. The music is a Potpourri performed by Royal Winnipeg pianist Harriet Cavalli, the only live music for the production. Both are exciting . . . the Pas de Trois remarkably well projected for student dancers and the Pas de Deux virtuoso dancing by Moroni himself and Valerie Wright one of his own students in the RWB school. Both performances received a thundering ovation. Valerie Wright is a wisp of lightness, a feather in mid-air.

The Okanagan's own Lynette Carey dances in the Albert Reid Innamorata Variations, Innamorata is an abstract interpretation of youthful love to lovely Mozart music . . . some of it straight and some extended in the electronic idiom.

The highlight of the production is Paddy Stone's Strike Up The Band. Paddy Stone was one of the original Winnipeg Ballet leading dancers and a native of Winnipeg. Touched with the famous RWB humor "Band" will delight with its subtle farcical satire. The student company gave a remarkable interpretation and in one or two instances out do the Royal Winnipeg performance seen in Petitioner some years ago.

And so thanks to Kelowna Rotary and the Banff Centre, Kelowna is again assured one of the finest evening's entertainment to come this way. It represents native Canadian creative ballet. Choreographers to develop must see their work in performance. Unlike music or drama, dance cannot live by the written idiom. Its life is in the feet of its dancers and creators. That is why dance tradition is so priceless . . . dependent on great teachers and the dancers they develop.

And this takes me to the highlight of my Banff trip . . . the privilege of meeting, talking with and watching in master class the great dance teacher Vera Volkova. A product of the great Russian tradition she is a master teacher of her art and is as well a very great lady. What was intended as a professional interview became instead a personal confrontation beyond any revelation of the written word . . . in keeping with my meeting with the great Prostopovich. Both possess an inner personal spirituality that, when revealed, must be considered as a sacred trust.

The second annual Banff Festival commences Sunday, August 13. Nothing could be more rewarding than a trip at this time through the Rockies presently aflame with fireweed. Fireweed is the Creator's benison following in the path of man's destruction.

Banff is aflame with the creative arts and next week there will be something for everyone . . . a repeat of the Festival Ballet, Healy Willan's opera Deldre and the musical The Man From La Mancha. There is also a new play by George Ryga . . . we met him as well . . . that is another story and much much more. See you Tuesday at the Community Theatre here. Curtain time is 8:15.

THREE GRADUATE MONTREAL (CP) — Three nurses have graduated from a four-month McGill University program aimed at enriching the medical knowledge of northern nurses. The three, now trained in all types of clinical procedures, as well as how to manage with a minimum of medical equipment, are heading back to settlements in Baffin Island where they were working prior to joining the countrywide training program.

Buffums Hold Family Reunion

The family of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Buffum of Newene Road, Winfield, held a family reunion August 7 and 8. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Johnson (Peggy) and five of their eight children, Bob, Joyce, Jim, Danny and Peggy Sue. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Knepe (Judy) of Sequim, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. John Allen (Janis) of Salem, Ore., and Tom Jr. of Sunnyside were unable to be present.

Son Bob Buffum flew in from Port Alice and from Victoria came Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Wallace (Thelma) and two of their three children, Kerry and Kelley. Kevin is with the forestry department and was unable to come. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Liège (Joan) and their three children, Elaine, Michael and Chris, came from Smithers. Mrs. Alice Joergensen from Vancouver, a sister of Mrs. Buffum was also present.

A family dinner was catered by the Winfield Hospital Auxiliary in the Centennial Room of the Community Hall. After the dinner old friends came in to recall old times and see pictures of the family and listen to very talented Jim Johnson on the piano.

DELAYS OVER STOL

Aircraft Industry Worried

OTTAWA (CP) — An aircraft industry leader here expressed concern at what he called government delays in setting up the STOL demonstration project.

David Mundy, president of the Air Industries Association of Canada, said that unless decisions are taken soon on the pilot project "it is likely that we will lose a whole year."

Time is important in Canada's effort to maintain a world lead in the short takeoff and landing aircraft, he said.

Transport Minister Don Jamieson announced in 1971 that an experimental STOL, service between Ottawa and Montreal would begin in May, 1973. The Air Industries Association in the government are working closely in an effort to develop a Canadian STOL aircraft industry.

One aim of the STOL service is to show the value of an aircraft, including airstrips, land, airport and other facilities.

The Canadian aircraft industry wants to develop a lead in providing electronic equipment and other devices linked to STOL service.

The aircraft industry is also busy working on an aircraft, the de Havilland DHC-8, which is designed to keep Canada ahead of other nations in STOL aircraft.

Mr. Mundy said in an interview the government still has not made any decisions about building airstrips in Montreal and Ottawa. He said it is already too late to meet Mr. Jamieson's target of May, 1973.

But it was still possible to get the experimental service under way by late 1973 if decisions were made immediately. If not, the project was unlikely to start until the spring of 1974 at the earliest.

The STOL project is important to the aircraft industry because it provides a base for continuing work over a long period in an area where Canada leads the world, Mr. Mundy said.

Unless the government "bites the bullet" and pushes ahead with the project immediately, other nations would gain time in their efforts to catch up to Canada.

It is understood that the government is on the point of announcing its decision to give full backing to the DHC-7 development project. The DHC-7 is a 48-seat aircraft regarded as the leading STOL plane in the world.

The Ottawa-Montreal demonstration project is to use 16-seat Twin Otter airplanes, also manufactured by de Havilland.

Air industry leaders are concerned about the drop in employment from 48,000 in the industry in 1968 to 27,000 now. Sales have not declined as severely but some small companies have been forced to close.

In spite of this serious decline, the industry is still on its feet, Mr. Mundy said. But it faced a gloomy future without increased sales.

This partly depended on the government insisting on a high Canadian content in the long-range patrol aircraft which the defence department is seeking as a replacement for the Argus anti-submarine airplane.

Mr. Mundy said it is unlikely that Canada will succeed in building the whole anti-submarine aircraft.

But with competition keen between U.S., British and perhaps French firms, there is an opportunity for Canada to insist on strong participation by Canadian companies in building components, Mr. Mundy said.

CANADA'S BEST EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM DIDN'T JUST HAPPEN.

Two things go into making up an excellent educational system. First-rate teachers . . . and first-rate facilities. In both of these areas, British Columbia is fortunate indeed.

Our teachers are the best qualified — and highest paid — in Canada. And our facilities at all levels of public education are unsurpassed. A recent advancement has been the creation of Regional Colleges throughout the province . . . greatly increasing the scope of post-secondary education.

Not surprisingly, British Columbia has the greatest percentage of people involved in public education of any province — 883,000, more than one-third of our entire provincial population.

It all adds up to the best educational system in Canada . . . a system your Social Credit Government has fostered by making Education the most important single area within the Provincial Budget. In the past year alone, educational allotments increased by more than $45,000,000. Yet British Columbia home-owners pay only 9% of the cost of public school education — the lowest percentage in Canada.

It takes sound management to achieve continued progress in a field such as Education without increasing taxes — the sort of management this Government provides in all areas of our social and economic life.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

About Youngsters Who Get Carsick

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 12-year-old daughter has been getting car-sick since she was six. Our doctor assures me she will outgrow it and in the meantime has given her a medication. However, the medication works by putting her to sleep, and I am concerned about the emotional problems which have resulted. She refuses to go on class trips or accept any invitation that means riding in a car. With all the serious illnesses, this probably doesn't seem important, but if you could, I would appreciate any suggestion. —A.J.B.

Maybe not a serious illness, but it's serious to her. One suggestion is that, since there are various seasick remedies, trying some of the others, or trying smaller doses, perhaps may calm her down enough without putting her to sleep. It may take a little experimentation, and I hope she'll go along with the efforts. After all, she's missing a lot of fun the way things are.

While the motion-sickness remedies are pretty good these days, one possible alternative might be worth a try: very small doses of phenobarbital or some other sedative.

Another thought is to give her the medication (the one she is using or some other one) a little more in advance of a car trip which may be more satisfactory, and perhaps make a smaller dose just as effective. A heavy dose shortly before a ride is not as good, generally, as a smaller dose taken earlier so it has time to work gradually.

Finally, in smaller children, an old remedy was to put an ordinary paper bag, such as a grocery sack, on the youngster's chest, next to the skin. Whether it was merely a counter-irritant or worked because of some psychological aspect, I have no idea. I just know that people have said it succeeded. At 12, your daughter may be too old to try that. Still it's a notion.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I just came from the doctor yesterday. I'd been suffering terribly with shortness of breath and was almost sure it was my heart. He gave me an examination and cardiogram and said he couldn't find a thing wrong with my heart. It is emphysema I have. —Mrs. M.E.S.

Emphysema, a loss of elasticity in the lungs, is one of the important causes of shortness of breath. It is not a curable disease, but proper care is necessary to keep it from becoming worse.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it a fact that sickle cell anemia affects only Negroes? Also, we just lost our son, 12, who had cystic fibrosis. Is it true that Negroes do not get this disease? And why can't research find a cure for either of these diseases? —L.A.

It's not true that only blacks get sickle cell anemia, but it is vastly more prevalent among them. Otherwise it is found chiefly among people from the Mediterranean area, and is being reported among Puerto Ricans.

Cystic fibrosis occurs once in about 2,000 births, but is rare in black people.

Cures for these diseases? Great efforts are being made, and there has been progress in easing the intensity of both diseases. Both are inherited disorders, which makes cure very difficult, but research is making headway.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

You are declarer with the West hand at Six Notrump and North leads the jack of clubs. How would you play the hand? (Assume that the diamonds are divided 3-1.)

... ..

You have to be extremely careful if you want to make sure of the contract. Win the club, cash the ace of diamonds, and lead the queen of hearts. If the queen goes to the king, you have twelve tricks. You win, return, then cash the A-10 of hearts and Q-K of diamonds. Next cash the jack of hearts and discard the nine of diamonds. With the diamonds now unblocked you cash the 6-5 to bring yourself to twelve tricks. Now let's assume that the defenders refuse the queen of hearts. In that case, continue with the ten. If they take the ten, you again have twelve tricks, playing essentially as described above.

Of course, the opponents may refuse the ten also. In that event, lead the queen of spades! If the queen loses to the king, you once more find yourself able to unblock the diamonds by discarding one later on the jack of spades and will make the contract in that way.

If the queen of spades is refused, you don't have to bother unblocking the diamonds. You score twelve tricks consisting of two spades, three hearts, four diamonds and three clubs.

Note that you cannot afford to cash the ace of hearts before attempting to force the king. You must underlead the ace each time to assure the contract. Against some distributions, leading the ace would be fatal if the defense met its obligations fully.

It would also be technically wrong to start out by cashing the A-Q of diamonds. If you then tried to give up a trick in hearts or spades, you could run into serious difficulty if the player with the king promptly took it and returned a diamond, thus blocking the suit.

One other pitfall to avoid is leading spades before hearts. This could also prove fatal under some conditions.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, AUG. 12

Aries (March 21-April 19): Close associates or family members demand more attention than you find convenient. Possibly you have an overly crowded schedule to meet.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Extra care with all things mechanical is advised. People may be contrary as there are too many quirks for orderly routine.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Prepare for changes, moments of tension which pass as you express your concern. Compromise anything short of principles.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Taking care of matters at hand may be enough for this weekend. Make notes of news but delay response until you have more to say.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Watch your impatience and inclination to pose abrupt demands. Haste achieves nothing, may spoil much of what you already have well set.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Talking over your business with friends leads to complications. Relatives tend to differing views over money and its uses.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your judgment is biased on behalf of your friends. A second thought should come before any definite commitment is made.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Opposition may come from people you don't know very well, for reasons having nothing to do with you personally.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Minding your own affairs is a fine art again. Fending off questions about money with friends and acquaintances is difficult but necessary.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Look for peace and inner harmony while you reconsider schedules and cope with interruptions. Everything can be saved with patience.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): You get back some of what you have been giving out, and if it's not pleasant, it's your job to do things to change matters.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Everybody has bright ideas about spending money, including yours. Think about the future and what you have promised to do.

GETS NEW RING

MONTREAL (CP)—The McArdules got married again for the second time—to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. Mrs. McArdule is especially pleased about the new wedding ring her husband gave for the occasion because she lost her original one on their 10th anniversary and had been wearing a makeshift ring ever since. "I've finally got another one that came to me through the ceremony," she said after their marriage which was conducted by their son Joseph, a Jesuit priest.

Rebel Fallers To Return

PACKSVILLE, B.C. (CP) — British Columbia's rebel timber fallers, off work for almost four months in a wage dispute, are expected to return to work Monday after deciding that something is better than nothing.

Chuck Evans, leading spokesman for the rebels, announced Thursday that a meeting of fallers here the previous day had voted by a six-vote majority to stay off the job.

But their steering committee, including Mr. Evans, decided that with defections from the rebel ranks increasing almost daily and with an obvious split in opinion among the remainder, enough was enough.

"We decided to recommend that they return to work, and they accepted it under certain conditions," he said.

The provisions are that the companies agree to maintain seniority, reinstate any men who had been fired and show no discrimination. Since these proposals already had been offered the rebels at one point during the dispute, it was likely their acceptance by the companies would be a formality.

Main issue in the dispute was the rebels' demand for a standard piece rate formula to replace a system of rates which varied widely from camp to camp under the old contract.

When the International Woodworkers of America union and Forest Industrial Relations, representing 115 companies, signed a new agreement last month in the wake of a two-week walkout by all 28,000 union members on the coast, they ignored the fallers' demands. They were given a flat rate of $80 a day. The fallers contended that they could make more than that on piece rates if they wanted to.

Although the fallers had strong leverage with no logs being felled, the industry was forced to lay off hundreds of men at mill operations—it appeared simple economic necessity doomed their cause.

Off work since the middle of April, fallers began drifting back to the woods shortly after the master contract was signed.

McGovern Wasn't First Choice For His 7th Running Mate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver, who was George McGovern's seventh choice a list for running mate, says McGovern was not his first pick for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Shriver, the new vice-presidential nominee, told interviewers Thursday that he donated $2,000 to the presidential primary campaign of Senator Edmund Muskie and helped him quietly until the Maine Democrat faltered at the polls.

"I would have like to do more," Shriver said, stating he had considered Muskie the man best able to unify the party and the country.

Shriver, who was ambassador to France at the start of the Paris peace talks more than three years ago, said in the interview that President Nixon blew a chance to end the Vietnam war in 1969 on better terms than he now is demanding.

Appointed ambassador to Paris by President Johnson, Shriver stayed on during Nixon's first year in 1969 and left, he said, only when he became convinced the right steps toward peace were not being taken.

"Nixon had peace literally handed to him in his lap," he said. "He blew it."

"I thought he had one of the great historic opportunities of my lifetime," Shriver said. "I thought he could have stooped the war. In my judgment, it would have been better terms in 1969 than he can today."
